'Flying Hotel' Is Wrecked, Burned In Desert Storm

BAGDAD, Iraq., Dec. 21—(AP)—The giant American-built airplane "Uiver," pride of the Royal Dutch Air lines, was found wrecked and burned today, its seven occupants killed.

The plane crashed during a desert thunder storm yesterday, 10 miles south of Rutba Wells, Iraq.

Scouting planes of the British Royal air force, who had searched for the liner since early yesterday, found the charred wreckage. The machine had been burned to cinders.

Fresh from triumphs in the England to Melbourne air derby, the liner, popularly known as "the Flying Hotel," was seeking new laurels in a speed flight from Amsterdam to Batavia, Java, when disaster overtook it.

The victims were three passengers and four members of the crew. They were:

The Victims.

Professor Walch of Batavia university; M. Beretti, director of Aneta, official news agency of the Dutch East Indies; and M. Kort, a businessman; M. Beeknan, commander and chief pilot; Second Pilot Van Steenbergen; H. A. Walewyn, engineer; and Wireless operator C. Van Zadelhogg.

Although the exact cause of the tragedy was not known, air officials here expressed belief it had been struck by lightning. The last radio message from the doomed craft, received early yesterday, said it was in difficulty during a storm near Rutba Wells and asked its position.

Honk! Honk!

DAVENPORT, Ia., Dec. 21—(AP)—A "wild" chase after a tame goose tied up automobile traffic on the busy government bridge over the Mississippi river for half an hour here yesterday.

The goose toppled from its perch on top of a poultry crate when a truck driver stopped suddenly on the bridge.

Angry motorists honked, but the goose honked back at them until its owner finally retrieved it.

100 MEN PUT ON FOR BIG JOB AT HAVELOCK SHOPS

Five Weeks' Employment Assured; Road Will Spend $250,000.

A hundred Burlington employes of the Havelock shops received an early Christmas gift Friday morning when orders came for them to report for about five weeks of work, six days a week.

H. H. Urbach, superintendent of motive power, said automatic loaders, a ne wpatented device, were being installed in 500 automobile cars and the job would take 100 men about 30 days. Each of the devices cost $500 so that the Burlington is expending at least $250,000 for the work, not counting the labor.

The shops have been closed for a week and officials had not previously anticipated opening them until January 7.

TUSA IS NAMED SUCCEED M'HUGH IN DOUGLAS JOB

Becomes Election Commissioner To Serve Little Over Year.

Confirmation of the report heard Thursday that Governor Bryan was contemplating the appointment of a new election commissioner in Douglas county before he goes out of office January 3 was quickly furnished Friday morning by the governor's announcement that he has named Anton Tusa for that place, as successor to W. D. McHugh, and that the transfer will take place the day after Christmas under the commission he is issuing to the new incumbent.

The Tusa selection carries with it an understanding, Bryan revealed, that Sidney J. Cullingham, stepson of the late United States Senator Howell, will become chief deputy election com-

Brandeis Fined On Game Charge

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—John Brandeis of Omaha Friday was penalized a total of $505 by County Judge Crawford on charges of violation of the Nebraska game laws. Brandeis, now in Los Angeles, confessed judgment and entered a plea of guilty through his attorney. Payment of the fine was made immediately.

Judge Crawford fined Brandeis $100 on a charge of illegal shipment of game birds, $75 on a charge of possession of three pheasants in excess of the bag limit, and assessed $330 damages under the law which provides the state may collect liquidated damages of $10 each for each bird taken or possessed illegally.

William Lytle, deputy state game warden, said the complaints grew out of a shipment of 33 pheasants, ducks and prairie chickens made by Brandeis from Omaha to friends in California.

AMERICA WILL BE NOTIFIED SOON

Move to Increase U. S. Fortification in Pacific Expected.

PARIS, Dec. 21—(AP)—Francois Pietri, minister of the navy, told the foreign affairs and naval committees of the chamber of deputies today that France soon will denounce the Washington naval treaty of 1922 but is, however, will to discuss further the question of international naval limitation.

"We are agreed," said the cabinet minister, "in declaring publicly soon that France considers the Washington treaty as ended in 1936, but that she is always ready for the limitation of armaments."

"The treaty (of Washington) is intolerable for France," he said.

British and American sources in London heard the news with surprise. It was explained that both Great Britain and the United States had received assurances some time ago that France, whatever its objections to the treaty, would permit Japan to assume the full responsibility for its termination.

BEN N. SAUNDERS.

Mr. Saunders was appointed by Governor-elect Cochran as state superintendent of banks. He is at present cashier of the Plainview State bank.

ASSERT WHARRY HOLDREGE BANK ROBBER LEADER

Witnesses Identify Picture of Man Killed In Kansas Crash.

HOLDREGE, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Four officials of the First National bank of Holdrege identified a picture of James Lester Wharry, who was killed in an automobile accident near Belleville, Kas., December 12, as one of the four men who robbed the bank of $5,400 last September 22.

Sheriff Hanson said the four officials who viewed a picture of the dead man were positive he was the leader of the gang which robbed the bank.

The officials were Lou Titus, cashier, L. W. Titus, vice president, Oliver Olson, and Bert Hanson, assistant cashiers.

Hanson said he had reported the identification to the state sheriff's office.

Wharry was killed instantly in an automobile-truck collision at Belleville and two other occupants of the car escaped uninjured and fled after holding up Cecil Carpenter of Concordia, Kas., with pistols and taking his car.

The two companions of Wharry, who was not identified immediately, terrorized residents of Belleville for several hours that night in an attempt to steal an automobile. They finally made good their escape.

Dozen Letters Singed By Fire in Mail Box Of Office Building

A dozen letters were damaged slightly by fire started in a mail box at the Security Mutual building, Twelfth and O streets, Friday noon. Firemen said the blaze might have been started by sparks from a cigaret in the hands of some one who posted letters in the mail chute.

None of the letters was badly damaged and postal authorities enclosed the missives in new covers and mailed them to the addressees, explaining the cause of the scorched edges.

When the fire was discovered, A. W. Adling, a mail clerk, was sent from the postoffice to open the box. The blaze partially burned a cotton cushion placed in the bottom of the box to break the impact of mail dropping to the box from the chute.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 21 — See where the doctors say "President Roosevelt is in great physical shape and ready to face congress on January third."

Well, that being the case from one training camp, I would like to report from the other training camp. I have examined congress and they are in great shape physically. (I said physically.) Mentally the boys are befuddled, but they are in the "pink." (That's what the fellows with the dough are afraid of, there are too many of them in the "pink.")

JURY DEBATING CHARGE AGAINST MARTIN INSULL

Drew $344,000 From Utility to Bolster Stock Market Account.

PROSECUTORS CALL HIS ACTION THEFT

Brother, Samuel, Hears Final Pleas; Not Called as Witness.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21—(AP)—The three Insulls who ruled the two billion dollar Insull utility system until it crashed in 1932 waited in court today while a jury debated criminal charges against one of them—Martin J. Insull.

Martin's older and more famous brother, Samuel Insull, sr, came to Judge Cornelius Harrington's court shortly after the jury resumed its deliberations, bringing Samuel, jr., once his chief of staff, with him.

Martin found the suspense of awaiting a verdict hard to bear.

"I feel tough," he said.

The jurors, back in a room off the court, were arguing the embezzlement charge against Martin in a low mumble of voices. Apparently they had reconciled some of the differences raging when they first took the case just after midnight. Then part of the argument, although the words were indistinct, could be heard across the street.

Even should he be acquitted, Insull faces deportation as an alien, although immigration officials said he would have little

PLAN TO SCRAP LABOR ACT IN WARTIME TOLD

Green Says Move Against Collective Bargaining Would Be Fought.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The senate munitions committee was told today that the war department's mobilization plan in the event of another conflict contemplates abrogation of Section 7-A of the national recovery act, which guarantees labor the right to collective bargaining.

Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, told the senate committee he was informed the plan would abrogate the NRA clause which long has been a center of dispute between industry and labor.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor called Senator Clark's comment a "most surprising statement."

"Labor certainly would resist with all the power it possesses scrapping 7-A, war or no war. What we would do would be to insist on broadening and strengthening 7-A."

Happy Over British Probe.

Meanwhile, the munitions investigators joyfully received word of the appointment of a British commission to inquire into the activities of English munitions companies.

Committee members unanimously expressed the hope the British inquiry would be "bona fide" and not a "whitewash."

Earlier, the house foreign affairs committee heard Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the world war industries board, recommend that the United States buy and store thousands of tons of tin for use in any possible war.

He told of difficulties encountered during the last war in obtaining tin for war and industrial purposes.

Baruch has been appointed by President Roosevelt as head of a committee to draw up legislation to take the profit out of war.

Yawning Victim Cured By Tickling His Feet

CHICAGO, Dec. 21—(AP)—A big "yawn malady" case came to an end today when two physicians tickled the victim's feet and pressed on foot nerves.

The treatment cured George Van Cleas, 31, special policeman, who had been yawning since yesterday afternoon from 10 to 20 times a minute.

Physicians said he was suffering from mental hysteria. Worry over illness of a daughter and missing six nights' sleep a month ago when his wife gave birth to their third child was believed to have brought on the attack.

Mrs. Schaffner Believed to Have Waded to Death

CARMEL, Cal., Dec. 21—(AP)—Growing conviction that Mrs. Eliot Boke Schaffner waded to her death in Carmel bay was expressed by police today after a slipper identified as the society matron's was found at Cooke's cove.

A deep sea diver will search the floo of the cove today for the body of the wife of Joseph Schaffner, director of a nationally known clothing firm.

Troops from the Monterey presidio were withdrawn from the search today after they had aided police and artist colony volunteers in a careful hunt for the woman who disappeared from this fashionable seaside resort Tuesday.

BIDS APPROVED ON $1,215,511 HIGHWAY WORK

Beatrice Viaduct Award Rejected; 12 More Jobs Are Deferred.

State Engineer A. T. Lobdell Friday announced award of contracts to low bidders on all but 13 of the highway projects on which bids were opened Thursday.

Bids on one project, a viaduct near Beatrice, were rejected pending revision of plans and later submission for bids, contracts were deferred on eight other projects pending city or county agreements on maintenance and other matters and four others were deferred principally for further "study" of the figures, Lobdell indicated.

O. K. $1,215,511 Work.

Low bids approved totalled $1,215,511, of which contracts were awarded for all but $146,642, the latter figure representing those projects on which agreements with cities or countries are needed. The low bid on the rejected viaduct project was not announced.

The letting included 34 culvert and bridge projects amounting to $188,543 on which awards were made. Lobdell said this work, which calls for early completion dates necessitating work throughout the winter, is designed to furnish employment until spring will permit open work on pavement and other types of construction operations not feasible in the winter.

Deferred Awards.

Awarding of contracts on the following projects were deferred pending agreements:

In Oakland, .2 mile paving; in Geneva, .5 mile paving in Norfolk .5 mile paving, in O'Neill, .4 mile paving; Harlington east culverts and bridges; Stella west, grading and structures, Ashland west, grading and culverts.

Deferred for other reasons were contracts on Laurel north, 2.9 miles paving and bridges Fairbury-Hebron 4 mile grading, gravel and bridges; David City-Seward 1.4 mile paving, no low bid announced. Brewster north, 3 miles grading and bridges.

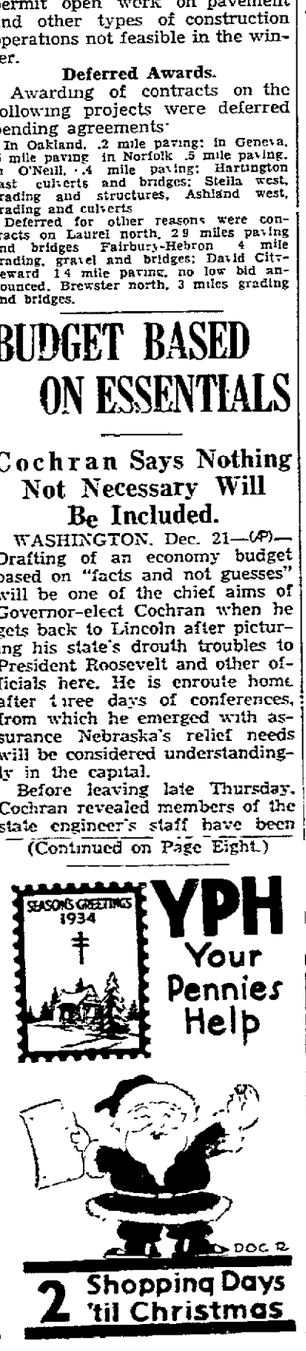

BUDGET BASED ON ESSENTIALS

Cochran Says Nothing Not Necessary Will Be Included.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—Drafting of an economy budget based on "facts and not guesses" will be one of the chief aims of Governor-elect Cochran when he gets back to Lincoln after picturing his state's drouth troubles to President Roosevelt and other officials here. He is enroute home after three days of conferences, from which he emerged with assurance Nebraska's relief needs will be considered understandingly in the capital.

Six persons were sentenced Friday morning by Federal Judge T. C. Munger following pleas of guilty to indictments returned by a grand jury a week ago. Eight other persons pleaded not guilty, defendant's attorneys in three other cases announced motions had been filed and two defendants were not present in court when called.

Alice Worthington, 20, and Delores Yarbo, alias Yuvonne, 25, were each sentenced to three years in the woman's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. Both were charged with transporting a stolen car from Grand Junction, Colo., to Trenton, Neb. Judge Munger said the government statement charged that the two women held up a man at the point of a gun near Grand Junction and took his car last July.

The women blamed their predicament on one Tracy Taylor, now serving time in the Nebraska penitentiary saying that he forced them to steal the car. Judge Munger commented that "holding a man up at the point of a gun is becoming very unfashionable."

As the judge pronounced the sentence the two women broke into sobs which continued during the rest of the sentences and until the girls were removed to the city jail to await removal to Alderson.

Orland Talkington, of Lincoln and Sutton, was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth prison and $100 fine on three counts of alleged violation of the internal revenue laws. Judge Munger pointed out that the case was the first one brought under a new

SANITARY DITCH BIDS RECEIVED

Offer Of Martin - Day Company, $113,067, Apparently Low.

Bids on the last section of the $243,000 PWA project in sanitary district No. 1 were opened Friday morning with the Martin-Day company of Lincoln submitting the apparent low, $113,067.30.

Work under contract No. 4 is on Salt creek and Oak creek from Tenth to Twentyseventh streets. Before the contract is let, John W. Latenser, PWA engineer at Omaha, must approve the bids. Other companies and the offers they submitted Friday to Scott and Scott, consulting engineers for the district, were:

Dobson and Robinson, Lincoln, $124,057.80.

L. E. Sternberg, Creston, Ia., $134,406.

M. C. Walker & Sons Co., Omaha, $135,079.99.

The consulting engineers said the figures would be sent to Latenser immediately, and his action probably would be within a few days.

Meat Carefully Checked And But Little Is Spoiled, FERA Avers When Two 'Bad' Cans Found Here

Two cans of processed beef which had been distributed to the needy of Lincoln, were turned over to the Lincoln health department for examination, and were found Friday to be "quite badly" spoiled. Both receptacles were bulged out of shape and emiting odors "foreign" to good meat smells.

"While the cans were found, and were among the millions of cans of Nebraska processed meat which has been canned for distribution in this state, there is really nothing to be alarmed over," Frank S Henline, superintendent of the commodity buying division of the FERA, announced.

Faulty Sealing Blamed.

"All of the meat which was canned in the state was checked and inspected at the canneries by our own and by government inspectors, and found to be all right," he said. "It is just unfortunate that some of the cans which were brought to Lincoln for distribution were faultily sealed," he added, declaring that all efforts are being made to check back, and find out where the blame should be placed.

"There is not a bit larger proportion of our meat spoiling than is the usual expectancy for goods which is canned," he said. "Often, when some technical part of the mechanism used for canning is out of adjustment improper sealing is done—with the result that air gets to the contents—and spoils them."

Consumption Unlikely.

"While the spoiled meat is unfit for consumption, there is little reason to believe that anyone would try to eat it anyway, for the cans are usually bulged or misshapen, and have stained sides. The odor alone would drive one from the house," he said.

Anyone who has gotten any of the meat that was unfit to use is urged to turn it in to the authorities, and it will be replaced, Mr. Henline said, pointing out the impossibility of personal inspection of every container before they are sent from the warehouses.

Girls Admit To Judge Munger They Were 'Unladylike' In Stealing Car; One Denies Tried To Be Movie Star

Alice Worthington, 20, and Delores Yuvonne, alias Yarbo, 25, received a Christmas gift of free trip to Alderson, W. Va., from Federal Judge T. C. Munger Friday morning. The girls wept when the judge announced the present.

Both of them agreed that they felt "it is not ladylike to steal a car," and they told the judge so, but he did not feel that the admission was an extenuating circumstance to Dyer act charge confessions, and he sentenced the girls to spend three years in the woman's reformatory at Alderson.

Denies Hollywood Claim.

"Your honor," Miss Worthington said, "I want to deny that I ever went to Hollywood to be a star or that I ever danced in a burlesque show in New York City." Allegations to that effect were made in a government statement read from the bench.

The government charged that the two held a man up at the point of a gun and took his car away, but they claimed they were forced to do it by Tracy Taylor, who had picked them up while hitchhiking.

Miss Yarbo told the judge they were very nervous when they held the man up. "Why Miss Worthington was shaking so much when she held the gun in the man's ribs that I took the gun away from her so she wouldn't shoot him."

"Yes," Miss Worthington said, "I might have killed the gentleman."

Indian Ancestry.

The government statement said that both girls were educated in convents in the south and that Miss Worthington had been a Hollywood dancer. Miss Yarbo, who has a four year old child has won quite a reputation as a singer. She is the daughter of a three-fourths Cherokee mother and a half Cherokee father.

After entering their pleas and returning to their seats the two wept quietly but after the judge had pronounced the sentence both broke out into loud wails which continued until they were placed in the city jail.

Loot From Bank Raids Not So Great; Norris Approves County Manager System

Only Three Bank Bandits Sent To Prison In Two Years.

Although loot obtained in raids on Nebraska banks in 1934 was less than a third of that of 1933, a rising tide of public sentiment has developed for a more active campaign against bank robbers and gunmen.

Strangely enough, there were eight "jobs" each year, but in 1933 the loot was $191,673, compared with a total of $60,197 in 1934. The difference was made up largely by the $152,000 obtained when six men robbed the First National bank of Fairbury April 4, 1933.

The sentiment for closer cooperation of peace officers has resulted principally in the plan of Sen. John S. Callan of Odell to introduce a bill in the legislature providing for a state police system, and the establishment of a system of police radio broadcasting.

Several organizations have expressed favor for a state police system, including the Nebraska Good Roads association, the Nebraska Bankers association and the Nebraska Stockgrowers association. The proposal, however, was voted down as an initiative measure at the 1932 general election.

Some other organizations favor a revision of the present peace officer system, principally on the ground that few perpetrators of bank robberies, burglaries and minor holdups are brought to justice.

Radio Is Helpful.

The radio broadcasting is done by Omaha and Lincoln police departments, and warnings are spread to eastern Nebraska sheriffs and police officers by short wave. Authoritics say this has been a great help in throttling the increase of crime, but lack of close cooperation allows much valuable information to be lost.

Of the 16 raids on banks in the two years, participated in by more than 50 men, only three persons were sent to prison, and those went to the penitentiary for the $9,769 robbery of the First National bank of York September 20, 1933.

For his work in solving that holdup Sheriff A. E. Carter of York was awarded a United States Flag association medal for outstanding service in law enforcement. Numerous arrests have been made, however, in connection with other robberies, outstanding among which have been those of suspects in the $7,929 robbery of the Security National bank of Superior November 22, 1934.

A federal grand jury recently returned indictments here charging several persons with being robbers of the Superior bank and with harboring the robbers. Of the 16 bank raids, all were daylight holdups except one — the $4,000 burglary of the Heartwell State bank October 3, 1934.

Lightning Flashes While Snow Falls

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Dec. 20—(AP)—Lightning flashed repeatedly here Thursday evening. So far as could be learned it was the first display of the kind witnessed in this vicinity in December. The sharp electrical disturbance was accompanied by rising temperatures. A heavy wind had whipped this section all afternoon. During the lightning display snow fell at the airport three miles east of Scottsbluff.

COCHRAN IS ON HOMEWARD TRIP

Confident That Good Has Been Accomplished In Capital.

Says President Is Deeply Interested In Middle West.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—Nebraska's drouth created problems were placed before President Roosevelt Thursday by Governor-elect Cochran.

As a result of the visit with the president and conferences with relief and agricultural officials the past three days, Cochran expressed confidence his state's situation would be given "sympathetic consideration" in federal plans for the future.

Cochran was closeted with the chief executive for nearly half an hour as he outlined Nebraska's condition as a result of the drouth. Soon after talking with the president, Cochran conferred again with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, telling him Nebraska's feed crops this year were only seven per cent of normal. Similar data was given agricultural department officials Wednesday.

Rowland Haynes, federal relief administrator for Nebraska, who accompanied Cochran to the conference with Hopkins, said he thought Cochran's work "had helped immeasurably" to bring an understanding of what the state faces.

The Nebraska delegation left the capital Thursday afternoon to return to Lincoln.

President Interested.

Cochran was enthusiastic about the president's interest in middle western problems and commented that he thought Roosevelt had an ideal temperament for the presidency.

"He wants to know all he can. He wants information. But he is able to do it without worrying," Cochran said.

The Nebraskan endorsed the principle of federal loans on farm stored grains, such as the corn loan program and approved the idea of extending such a plan to wheat. He also expressed hope the president would provide an "adequate" highway building program. Cochran told the president road work is especially desirable in a program for providing employment, because it takes work "to the people."

Enforcement Labor Provisions Of NRA To Be More Strict

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—One aim of the national recovery administration regional office to be established here will be tightening of enforcement of labor provisions in codes of "service industries," such as hotels, cleaners, barbers and laundries, according to word here today.

Washington officials are understood to have imparted instructions along this line at the conference here Wednesday and Thursday of NRA officials from Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska.

Formal announcement, it was said here, is expected to come from Washington about January 1.

DR. J. P. CONNOLLY IS DEAD IN OMAHA

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Dr. James P. Connolly, 69, an Omaha resident for 50 years, died of heart disease at a local hospital Thursday. He was a graduate of Creighton university dental college. Active in local politics, Dr. Connolly served two terms as county commissioner and later was a member of the leislature. In 1918 he went to China as clerk of the United States court in Shanghai. Returning to Omaha he served as superintendent of the city welfare board. Surviving are two sons, one daughter and two sisters.

Killing Off Rabbits In Kimball County

KIMBALL, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Two bushel baskets full of rabbit ears were brought to the Kimball county courthouse today following the rabbit hunt in which 60 men participated. About 800 pairs of ears were clipped for the three-cent bounty paid by the county. It is estimated there are about 100,000 rabbits in the county, or 22 for every man. Following the hunt a banquet was held with food donated by the business men.

FARM BUREAU ELECTS.

(Special to The Star)

SEWARD, Neb., Dec. 21—The farm bureau held its annual meeting this week and elected the following directors: Herman Ebers, C. C. Wertman, Paul M. Peterson, Mrs. Ray Smiley and Mrs. Alvin Gard. K. C. Fouts, county agent, gave a report of the year's work, telling what had been accomplished in the various departments. At the close of the meeting, D. L. Gross gave a talk on the purposes, plan and necessity for the new 1935 corn-hog program.

RADIUM RECOVERED.

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Attendants at an Omaha hospital announced the $600 worth of radium accidentally swallowed Monday by Fidelphio Gibilisco, a cancer patient, has been recovered and returned to the hospital's radium supply. The radium was contained in a small needle tube.

Northeast Chambers In Four Districts

Counties Are Divided Into Groups, Each To Have Its Own Chairman.

COLUMBUS, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)— Division of the 28 counties comprising the area in the northeast Nebraska chamber of commerce into four districts, each of which is to have its own chairman, has been made by a committee composed of Ed Bauman of West Point, vice president, and William Traub of Battle Creek, treasurer. The committee was authorized to work out details of the district division.

Decision to divide the territory into four districts for sake of convenience, was made at a meeting of the board of governors at Pierce Dec. 14.

The proposed division will be submitted to the governors at their next meeting, in West Point January 10. The districts as arranged by the committee follow:

Will Arraign Frahm For Jail Breaking At Oshkosh Saturday

GERING, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—District Judge Carter will go to Oshkosh Saturday, when Fred Frahm will be arraigned before him on a charge of jail breaking. Frahm escaped from jail at Oshkosh Sunday night, but was captured a few moments later.

Garden county authorities plan to take him to the penitentiary for safe keeping, and to bring him back next March for trial, in the event he pleads not guilty to the jail breaking charge. He was sentenced December 14, to 10 years in the penitentiary for the death of his brother, John, about six years ago.

Norfolk May Have Special Election Swim Pool Bonds

NORFOLK, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Petitions are being circulated here asking the city council to call a special election on a proposed $17,000 bond issue to buy materials for a municipal swimming pool. The $17,000 would be matched with $30,000 or $32,000 in FERA funds to give work to an estimated 125 men. The petition was to be presented to the council Friday night. Present plans call for the completion of the 80 by 125 foot pool by May 1, and a wading pool 35 by 50 feet, with sprays for youngsters. Plans also call for the installation of showers, a filtration system to keep the pool sanitary, steel lockers, and a lighting system.

Suitcase Baby To State Institution

HOLDREGE, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—County Judge Chadderdon has decided the baby found in a suitcase in a hospital here recently should be placed in custody of the Nebraska home for dependent children. The boy has been cared for at the Brewster hospital since he was abandoned there.

Five Divorce Decrees Granted By Chappell

In one of the heaviest days in months, District Judge E. B. Chappell considered nine divorce cases Thursday. Of the nine he signed five decrees granting divorces, denied one, and took three others under submission.

Fred A. Anderson was granted a divorce from Margaret L. Anderson after the judge found in favor of his cross-petition to the suit which was brought by Mrs. Anderson. The residence property of the couple at 1636 Van Dorn street was awarded to the defendant, Mr. Anderson. No alimony was allowed.

Lester J. Barnes was granted a divorce from Freda Barnes. Custody of their four minor children however, was awarded to the defendant and Mr. Barnes was ordered to pay $40 per month for their support until all of them reach the age of twenty-one.

Frances Neylon was given a divorce from William J. Neylon and the custody of their minor child was awarded to Mrs. Neylon. Mrs. Neylon was awarded permanent alimony in the sum of $2,000.

Helen Reedy was awarded a decree of divorce from Elmer LeVelle Reedy and her maiden name, Harman, was restored.

Helen E. Ridgeman was granted a divorce from John L. Ridgeman.

After hearing the contested divorce action between Paul E. Smith, 2100 P street, employe of a local coal company and his wife, Mildred E. Smith, Judge Chappell refused to grant them a decree.

"After the testimony you have both given here and after reading the report of the court's investigator, I refuse to grant you a decree, he said. "Your conduct has been such that you should not be allowed to be free to marry anyone else."

TELEPHONE ELECTION.

(Special to The Star.)

BARNESTON, Neb., Dec. 21—The Barneston Mutual Telephone company held its annual meeting in Masonic hall here Thursday and elected Joseph Sedlacek, president, and George W. Houseman, secretary-treasurer. George Reimann and Peter Bednar, with the officers, constitute the board of directors. Mrs. Mary Nolan was re-elected manager of the exchange.

J. H. WEYER FUNERAL.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 21—Word has been received here of the death of J. H. Weyer, 76, formerly of south Gage county, which occurred at his home in St. Joseph. The six Weyer brothers of the Barneston vicinity, nephews of the deceased, acted as pallbearers.

BUILD NEW HOME.

(Special to The Star)

CRAB ORCHARD, Neb., Dec. 21—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Laflin of Crab Orchard have begun the construction of a modern home here to cost about $5,000. They hope to have it completed early this winter.

THINKS OTHERS TO ADOPT PLAN

Says It Is Step Toward More Responsible Government.

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Praise for the county manager plan of government was voiced by Senator Norris in a letter this week to Walter L. Pierpont, president of the Association of Omaha Taxpayers.

"I know it is a step toward more responsible and therefore more economical and better government," Senator Norris wrote.

"Combining the various activities of state, county and municipal governments, and placing them in the hands of a competent person who must perform all his official acts in the light of publicity, will put an end to the shifting of responsibility which is put upon his shoulders," he added.

Senator Norris predicted in his letter that other Nebraska counties will follow Douglas county in adopting the county manager form of government.

SUFFERS STROKE.

(Special to The Star)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 21—Mrs. Mary Cook of Lincoln, who has been visiting in the city the past two weeks, suffered a stroke Wednesday night and was taken to a local hospital in a serious condition.

Originator Living Christmas Tree Is Recipient Of Poem

(Special to The Star.)

CRETE, Neb., Dec. 21—The Crete News this week received a copy of an original poem, "Our Living Christmas Tree," written by R. Hand of Los Angeles, which was dedicated to the holy birth, and to the thought which bore the tree, with the request by Mary Pickford that the original autographed copy be presented to the one responsible for the idea of the living tree.

This request was complied with at the annual Rotary Christmas banquet, held Wednesday evening at the Hotel Cosmopolitan for Rotary Anns and families, with the recipient being Mrs. Benjamin G. Miller, Rotary Ann, and the originator of the idea of the living Christmas tree. The poem was read by Mrs. W. S. Collett.

President Edwin B. Dean told of "The Christ Child," and a double number was sung by the American Legion sextet, composed of Mesdames M. C. Brannon, W. A. Keitges, Edward Plouzek, Anton Plouzek, R. P. Winsinger and Clyde Knight. Treats and presents were given all.

HOLDUP AT MORRILL.

MORRILL, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—An unidentified gunman held up the Lloyd Forbes filling station here Thursday night, locked the young attendant, Forbes' brother, in a rest room and escaped with $50 in cash, police reported.

Steer's Kick Fatal.

OMAHA, Dec. 21 — (AP) — William Baum, 51, a cattle salesman, kicked in the leg by a steer at the Omaha stockyards in August, died Thursday from complications resulting from the injury. He was a native of Snyder, Neb.

Grant Of $17,000 Is Made To Valley For Water Works Plant

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The PWA today made loans and grants totalling $2,417,100 for 22 non-federal construction projects. Officials estimated the funds would bring 15,533 man months of direct employment in 11 states and a greater amount of indirect employment where materials will be produced.

The allotments, subject to the condition that the recipients promptly execute and return the bond contract and grant agreement, include grant of $17,000 for a water system at Valley, Neb.

BOTH JAWS BROKEN.

(Special to The Star)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 21—Miss Evelyn Fulwider, a nurse at Pawnee City who was injured in a car collision near Cortland Wednesday evening, suffered fractures of both lower and upper jaws. Mrs. Lulu Slade, another nurse from Pawnee City who was cut and bruised, was taken home Thursday. Harold Barr, a third member of the party, who was injured in the accident, is still in the hospital here.

Is Heavily Fined On Liquor Charge

GERING, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Chauncey Allen, Mitchell, druggist, was fined $250 and costs by District Judge Carter Thursday on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor for sale purposes. He was found guilty by a jury here Nov. 16. Allen will appeal to the Supreme court, he said.

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Conversational Habits.

We all talk too much about ourselves and our woes.

It doesn't make interesting conversation. The sense of relief that we may feel from unburdening ourselves is temporary and usually eclipsed by a later sense of remorse and chagrin that we so freely aired our personal affairs. It's an indulgence that is entirely weak, is habit forming and reaches the proportions of an actual dissipation with many.

It's so refreshing and stimulating to meet someone who talks charmingly of abstract things instead of the usual "I said" and "She said." I wonder why we don't do more of it, why we don't cultivate the art of conversation and concentrate on squashing our own weak leanings toward boring our friends with our own personal trials and tribulations.

Nobody wants to hear our troubles. We all have acquaintances that we shun because of the gloomy vibrations they set up in us through their interminable tales of woe. Yet, alas, we turn around and inflict our woes on others in like manner and are blindly unconscious of our own inconsistency.

If you must talk of your physical ailments, see a doctor and pay him to listen. If you have personal problems that you cannot work out alone, if you must have the solace of an audience and advisor, see a psychiatrist if you can afford it, or your minister. Or, if there is no other course, ask a kindly and wise friend to unselfishly listen to your woes and help you clarify your mental worries. Have your conference in dignity, and then forever after hold your peace. Don't keep on talking yourself, if you want this friend to continue as such.

Check over your conversational habits and see if, perhaps, you are not talking altogether too much of yourself.

Fetish of Duty.

Dear Minerva: What can be done in a situation like this?

I am married to a sweet and devoted girl, only alas most of her sweetness and devotion are directed toward her mother. All her life, she has taken the responsibility of making her mother happy. Her father died when she was quite young. Her brothers and sister were then married, so my wife was the one to look after the mother. She did her job in splendid fashion. But even now, her mother always comes first. Wherever we go, to the show, on a trip or to a party, mother must go along. Or, at least she must be consulted and we must be assured that she has recreation provided her. Usually she accompanies us. Many a time we have given up a party or a trip to remain home with her.

Now the mother in question is a healthy, lively woman, with hosts of women friends and church interests and such like. My wife and I practically support her. She owns her own home and has a small income of her own. I don't mind the money we give her. I favor that. What I do mind is that I never have my wife to myself and that we are frequently deprived of normal pleasures among our own friends through my wife's exaggerated sense of duty to her mother.

What can be done? The brothers and sisters live here and they do nothing for the mother, either socially or financially. My wife says she would like to have more time for me but she cannot bear to have her mother lonely nor can she bear to be criticised for not doing her duty. Is that just? I tell you, the thing threatens to ruin our marriage, though I adore my wife. Please advise me.

TOM.

A. The stiuation is serious and must be controlled. You have every right to demand that your wife give you the great snare of her time. She is at fault more than the mother, for she is making a fetish of her daughterly duty. She must be made to understand that unless she puts you first, at least part of the time, that you will grow further and further apart and eventnally lose the essence of your marriage, which is companionship. You will have to "put your foot down." She can devote daytime hours to her mother, but leave the hours that you are home free for you. It is time that the brothers and sisters take up their share of responsibility. Certainly they should take the greater share of social responsibility since you are paying the bills.

No reasonable mother would want to monopolize the time of her married daughter, time that normally belongs to her husband, and any intelligent mother will recognize the danger of such a situation. I think you can doubtless enlist her sympathetic co-operation with you, if you talk to her frankly of your viewpoint.

Not Sweethearts.

Bob: Being "great pals" with a girl doesn't mean that you love her. It is foolish of you to believe that chivalry demand that you marry the girl who has been a jolly and devoted "pal" to you through many years of school companionship. The marriage would be tragic to her as well as to you. Don't monopolize her time. That isn't fair. If you are doing that, you'd better gradually cease so she can have opportunity for developing other masculine companionships.

Italy's Most Prolific Mothers Are Feted at Celebration in Rome

ROME, Dec. 21 —(AP)— Italy's most prolific mothers, 94 of them, began their second annual celebration in Rome today as guests of Premier Benito Mussolini.

Since each represented a province, with two from Rome, the affair had some aspects of a national get-together of beauty queens in the United States.

The champion mothers were chosen for the number of healthy children in their families and those with less than eight were not even in the running. Only mothers married since the World war were admitted to the contests.

All are robust physical types and the majority are in their forties. Their combined broods total 926—an average of close to ten apiece.

They came to the epaiatl at the expense of the government and are to be feted by the Romans for three days, ending Monday, which is mothers' and childrens' day in Italy.

The annual contests and Rome meeting are part of Mussolini's plan to increase interest in large families and thus augment Italy's population.

Yuletide Woe.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 21—(AP)—Christmas cards, it appears, are more valuable than a green, eight-cylindered coupe with yellow wheels.

When his car was stolen Monday, "Box 2350" appealed in an ad to the "guy who stole it" to return the Christmas cards and mailing list inside. He did not mention returning the car.

Yesterday police found the automobile. The cards and mailing list were missing.

DISINFECTANT CLAIM REFUSED

Broady Finds for County And Board Moves to Reform Procedure.

Co-incident with District Judge J. H. Broady's order dismissing the claim of the Western Chemical company of St. Joseph, Mo., asking $1,011 for payment for about 335 gallons of disinfectant and insecticide allegedly sold Lancaster county in 1932, commissioners made plans to improve the procedure they have been following since 1921.

For over a decade county commissioners have been allowing employes and departments of the county to contract for purchases by obtaining a written order signed by only one commissioner. Included was a proviso that the board be consulted before making out the written order. Hearing of Judge Broady's decision, Commissioner John Bennett, one of the signers of the 1921 resolution, said Friday he would move to amend the resolution at the board meeting next Monday to make each purchase order require signatures of two of the three commissioners.

Appeal from Disallowal.

The case heard by Judge Broady was an appeal from the chemical company's claim which commissioners disallowed last February 6. The company claimed that the orders were signed by the late commissioner T. J. Hensley and in some instances by the superintendent of the county poor farm. In his written order Judge Broady said:

"Under the statutes of Nebraska the county can act only by and through the county board, and the county, through such board, has power to make all contracts. The county commissioners cannot legally transact county business except at a regular board session or at specially called meetings by the county clerk. The statute also requires the county board to keep a record of all its meetings and transactions. There is no record whatever of any of the matters claimed in this suit."

Commissioner Bennett, as a witness in the case which was heard Thursday afternoon, testified then that the purchases in question were never brought before the entire membership of the board.

FOUR ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Chalco Man's Skull Fractured and Lincoln Resident Injured.

OMAHA, Dec. 21 — (AP) — Fred Kruse, 70, of Chalco, suffered a fractured skull, and Miss Laura Grell, also of Chalco, was less seriously injured Thursday afternoon when a car in which they were riding collided with a machine driven by Ed Irvin of Lincoln on highway No. 6, a mile north of Gretna.

Irvin, who is connected with an automobile firm at Lincoln, was cut in the head; J. C. Keen of Kansas City, another occupant of his car, was bruised, while a third occupant was uninjured.

Kruse and Miss Grell were brought to an Omaha hospital. Miss Grell suffered a broken left arm, and fractured hand and cuts about the elbow and face.

Injuries Are Fatal.

Clarance Shaffer, 57, struck by an auto on a downtown street here November 4, died here Thursday. Shaffer suffered a fractured skull and fractures of a shoulder and both knees. John F. Olson of Omaha, the driver, was booked on a technical charge of reckless driving.

MIAMI TO CHICAGO PLANE RECORD SET

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 — (INS) — Less than eigh, hours separated Miami, Fla., and Chicago today with establishment of a new transport plane record by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who flew 13 passengers here from Miami last evening in 7 hours and 40 minutes.

Captain Rickenbacker's flying time cut 2 hours and 20 minutes from the fromer transport record.

2 MORE VICTIMS OF RIOT DEAD

Death Toll in Shelbyville, Tenn., Shooting Mounts to Four.

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 21 —(AP)—Floyd (Pat) Lawes, 28, a farmer, died in a Shelbyville hospital today of wounds received Wednesday when national guardsmen fired into a crowd around the courthouse while a mob was trying to storm the building for a negro prisoner. It was the fourth fatality.

Two men were killed the day of the outbreak and Gilford Freeman, a machinist, succumbed late yesterday. Lawes had been shot in the head.

Col. R. H. Bond, in command of the national guard troops here, described the situation today as "very quiet" and said "we have received absolutely no indication" that there will be any further mob outbreak.

Members of the militia last night patrolled the ruins of the $150,000 courthouse, which was burned by angry mobsters.

PARTIES FUME ABOUT CONTROL

Demos Want More Places Upon Committees; G. O. P. Protests.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—Democratic leaders proposed today that their party assume greater control over the drafting of legislation by taking over more committee posts. The move brought quick protest from republicans.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, democratic floor leader who is expected to be next speaker, advanced it as his personal belief that democratic membership on legislation-shaping committees should be increased and republican membership reduced.

Claims Responsibility.

"They (republicans) have got about one-fourth of the membership," Byrns said, "so why should they have one-third, or thereabouts, of the committee places. It's our responsibility, and we're competent to handle it.

"I wouldn't want to take away from any member a right to which he was entitled, but I don't figure the republicans are entitled to as many members as they now have on committees."

Representative Mapes of Michigan, a republican leader, remarked that:

"The republicans got about 46 per cent of the popular vote in the last election. Those voters are entitled to representation.

The democrats have 322 members in the next house while republicans have 102. The number of republicans and democrats on committees has not been changed since democrats took over the house in 1931 with a four-vote majority.

Receivership For French Auto Firm

PARIS, De. 21 —(AP)—The vast factories of the Citroen Automobile Co. were put into receivership today by a decision of the tribunal of commerce.

Andre Citroen, often called "the Henry Ford of France," himself filed the petition for receivership. The court rejected the bankruptcy action brought by creditors.

The French government, which devoted a good part of yesterday's cabinet session to the problem of how to save the 2,000,000,000 franc ($130,000,000) company, failed to get banks or industrialists to refloat the firm.

The receivers, as court officers, will be able to get working capital and the indebtedness or more than half a billion francs will cease to be a constant menace.

Douglas Members Legislature Told Tax Sources Dry

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Douglas county lawmakers in the next legislature have before them warning of the Greater Omaha association that the tax burden has reached the danger point.

A. W. Gordon, secretary of the Omaha organization of businesses, told the delegation that tax sources are drying up and that it will be up to them to determine what is actually needed and what should be rejected when the requests for increased funds are laid before them next January.

J. E. Davidson, chairman of the association, said its membership pays more taxes and employs more persons than any other group of similar size in the state.

Other speakers at a meeting Thursday night were Secretary of State Swanson, who mentioned a state budget is one of the vital problems facing the next legislature; Land Commissioner-elect Swanson; Sen. Sam Howell, and Sen. John McMahon.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RUSH NEAR PEAK

Tons Of Packages And Cards Keep Huge Force Busy.

One hundred forty-five postal carriers — 70 regulars and 75 extras—were carrying tons of Christmas mail from the postoffice Friday and citizens were still coming in with tons more. E. G. Bivins, superintendent of mails, said 24 trucks were busy bustling around the city with packages.

Bivins said he thought the peak of incoming mail would arrive here for Saturday distribution. Seventy-five extra clerks are helping the 90 regular workers.

Thursday's cancellations were 167,830 as compared with 176,910 a year ago. The total for the three days of the rush to date is 388,590 as compared with 394,560 for the same period a year ago.

"BUSTER" COLLIER TO WED.

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 21—(AP)—William "Buster" Collier, jr., 30, motion picture actor, and Miss Marie Stevens, 23, filed an application for a marriage license here today. They will be married New Year's day.

Townsend Pension Plan Author Calls On Senator Norris

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Roosevelt was said at the white house today to have indicated disfavor in her private correspondence toward the Townsend old age plan to give persons over 60 years old $200 a month to be spent within 30 days.

While Mrs. Roosevelt was said to have believed that something should be done in the way of old age pensions, she was declared to be advocating no particular method.

Dr. F. E. Townsend, author of the plan, called on Senator Norris of Nebraska yesterday.

Seal Sale Receipts Reach $2,241 Total

Seal sale receipts in the annual sales drive total $2,241.17, officials of the campaign announced Friday. One penny that helped to swell the receipts came from a small boy who wanted to know, "could I have one of them seals." He was given five for his sticky penny, where upon a shout of glee rent the postoffice corridor.

Bank Official Promised Gift By Holdupman

NORFOLK, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Ole Gladem, assistant cashier of the DeLay National bank, which was held up here November 9, is keeping a close eye on the postman and mail box these days. He doesn't particularly expect to receive anything unusual, but he is wondering if bank robbers keep their word.

After being kidnaped and held hostage from midnight November 8 until the bank opened in the morning, he was taken on a trip into the country. While they were riding around, one of the robbers, calling the assistant cashier by his first name, said:

"Ole, if this job goes through we'll send you a Christmas present."

Several hours later, the gunmen raided the bank's vault, grabbed $22,850 in currency and escaped. No trace has ever bene found of the bandits or the stolen currency.

"With $22,850 they ought to be able to buy a swell present," Gladem said.

Fish Turned Over to Westchester County

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—Albert H. Fish was turned over to Westchester county authorities today by Magistrate Benjamin Greenspan in homicide court, to answer an indictment there charging first degree murder in the death of 10-year-old Grace Budd.

Fish had nothing to say during the brief proceeding, and kept a handkerchief over his face. In court was Detective William King, the policeman who worked on the case almost continually after the little girl disappeared six years ago, and the man who brought about the arrest of Fish.

Addressing the detective, Magistrate Greenspan congratulated him on the solution of the girl's disappearance.

Katharine Cornell Wins Praise for Juliet Role

Making her first appearance in "Romeo and Juliet" in New York, Miss Cornell won a tremendous ovation from a wildly cheering audience last night. At the end the audience would not let her go and she answered 15 curtain calls.

Burns Mantle, dramatic critic of the Daily News, called her "the greatest Juliet of her time."

Rich Gold Strike In North Georgia

ATLANTA, Dec. 21— (AP) —A gold strike in White county, which yielded 67 nuggets weighing 12 ounces in all, was reported today by Richard W. Smith, state geologist.

Smith described the find as "the most spectacular" in recent months in the north Georgia gold fields.

The geologist said all the nuggets were in or near a hollow scoured in the bedrock of Duke's creek valley.

Roosevelt Yule Cards Show Fireside Scene

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The white house Christmas cards this year show President and Mrs. Roosevelt sitting informally by their fireside.

"A Merry Christmas from the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Christmas, 1934" is their simple greeting for their second Yuletide in the white house.

BARUCH SAYS HE IS NOT ON DOLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) — When Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, appeared before the house foreign affairs committee today in its tin investigation, Chairman McReynolds, democrat, Tennessee, asked him to state his name, address and "business."

The reply:

"Bernard M. Baruch, New York City.—uh—uh—I hardly know how to say what my business is. Off the record, though, I'm not on the dole.

He recently retired from active business.

McCarter And Wife Show Improvement

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Physicians Friday said conditions of Sen. and Mrs. Frank McCarter who were injured Wednesday in an automobile accident were slightly improved. She is still unconscious in a hospital here. Two other persons were hurt in the accident.

TODAY'S COMMON ERROR

Crop Report Shows Poor Production, Good Prices

Value Of 1934 Crops Is Greater Than For Last Year.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—How the value of 1934's crops—despite the fact they were the smallest in years—was greater than their value last year and in two or three years previous is shown in the annual summary of the Crop Reporting board. The figures released by it are a bright spot in contrast with the darkness of the summer's drouth.

Corn, with the smallest production in more than half a century, principally because of this summer's drouth, was valued at $1,085,565,000, compared with $924,930,000 for last year and $558,902,000 for two years ago. Production this year was 1,380,718,000 bushels and acreage 87,486,000, compared with 2,351,658,000 bushels and 103,260,000 acres last year and 2,906,873,000 bushels and 108,668,000 acres two years ago.

Wheat production is almost 300,000,000 bushels below the average harvest during the five years, 1927-31. Value of the total crop this year is $432,441,000, compared with $359,048,000 last year and $238,828,000 for 1932.

Total wheat production this year was 496,469,000 bushels and the area harvested, 42,235,000 acres, compared with 528,975,000 bushels and 47,910,000 acres last year, and 57,114,000 and 745,788,000 bushels in 1932.

Production and value of important crops by principal producing states follow:

CORN: New York 21,286,000 bushels and value $17,860,000; Pennsylvania 52,896,000 and $40,730,000; Ohio 92,200,000 and $67,306,000; Indiana 94,141,000 and $71,547,000; Illinois 146,760,000 and $11,473,000; Michigan 33,408,000 and $25,724,000; Wisconsin 72,904,000 and $55,429,000; Minnesota 76,619,000 and $58,230,000; Iowa 201,480,000 and $161,184,000; Missouri 26,482,000 and $24,363,000; South Dakota 12,722,000 and $10,686,000; Nebraska 21,363,000 and $19,013,000; Kansas 10,576,000 and $9,307,000; Oklahoma 11,644,000 and $10,596,000; Texas 45,873,000 and $39,451,000.

WINTER WHEAT: Pennsylvania 14,654,000 and $13,482,000; Ohio 33,350,000 and $30,348,000; Indiana 32,040,000 and $28,195,000; Illinois 28,248,000 and $26,031,000; Michigan 10,976,000 and $9,659,000; Missouri 21,266,000 and $19,352,000; Nebraska 15,008,000 and $13,357,000; Kansas 79,663,000 and $67,714,000; Oklahoma 37,348,000 and $32,866,000; Texas 25,749,000 and $22,917,000; Washington 21,247,000 and $15,085,000; Oregon 8,874,000 and $6,478,000.

POTATOES: Maine 58,280,000 and $11,256,000; New York 32,550,000 and $11,067,000; Pennsylvania 34,000,000 and $13,940,000; Michigan 34,304,000 and $9,605,000; Minnesota 23,380,000 and $7,949,000 North Dakota 5,940,000 and $2,851,000; Nebraska 3,450,000 and $2,622,000; Idaho 19,240,000 and $6,926,000; Colorado 5,700,000 and $3,135,000; California 8,610,000 and $4,649,000.

NEBRASKA GAINS ON AAA PROGRAM

Benefit Income Three Times Size Process Tax Outgo.

W. H. Brokaw, state corn-hog and wheat administrator, said today corn-hog and wheat benefit payments to Nebraska farmers total three times the amount of money collected in the state from processing taxes by the bureau of internal revenue. The total up until November 1, he said, was: Corn-hog and wheat payments, $19,863,745; processing taxes, $6,348,597.

To Finish Emergency Cattle Purchases By January 5—Gramlich

With all arrangements complete, the second installment of emergency cattle purchases in Nebraska will be finished by January 5, H. J. Gramlich, state director, reports.

Quotas have been filled in nearly every case at sales held in several counties during the past week. Gramlich points out that cattle must be listed and permits secured previous to the various sales.

Counties where sales will be held next week are: Custer, Cheyenne, Clay, Franklin, Furnas, Howard, Pawnee, Sheridan, Sioux, Adams, Box Butte, Cherry, Dawson, Johnson, Nuckolls, Platte, Valley, Antelope, Dawes, Dauel, Fillmore, Frontier, Hall, Howard, Lancaster, Pierce, Sioux, Holt, Knox, Lincoln, Madison, Red Willow and Webster.

Many Present At N. E. Nebraska Feed Day

EMERSON, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—More than 300 farmers from Dixon, Dakota and Thurston counties attended the annual northeastern Nebraska Feeders' day held here recently. T. W. Fife of Sioux City told them the price of hogs probably would increase after farmers sell surplus stock this winter. He said he expects a "considerable rise" in price about February 1 for both cattle and hogs.

State Farm Bureau To Meet Here Jan. 7

C. B. Steward, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, announced today the annual meeting of the organization will be held Jan. 7 and 8 at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture here.

A Pig And A Cow Are Pals--And How!

SULLIVAN, Ind.—(AP)—When a cat adopts pups that's news but when a cow adopts a pig—that's even bigger news.

Judge Nixon, Sullivan county farmer, suspected something The satisfying sound of milk splashing in the pail each night was gone. His cow, Betsy, was failing to keep up her end of the family exchequer.

Nixon hid in the cow shed. He saw a spotted pig approach Betsy and then he discovered the reason for the milk shortage.

The farmer penned up the pig and admonished Betsy, but Betsy took the matter to heart. She bawled and bawled.

PROGRESS IN SEARCH FOR DROUTH RESISTING WHEAT

WINNIPEG — (AP) — Progress was reported today in an effort to produce drouth resisting wheat.

The associate committee on grain research in a statement at the conclusion of the annual meeting here said:

"Tests conducted during the past year in dry areas show that a number of new hybrid strains of wheat are very promising because of their drouth resistance."

PIG USES BOTTLE.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. —(AP)—When the mother of a six-day-old pig became paralyzed, Fireman C. H. Wonderly took the small animal home with him and began nursing it with a baby's milk bottle. The youngster is practically making a pig of itself, Wonderly reported.

PROCESSING TAX REPORT IS MADE

Six States Have Paid Bulk Of Tax Which Supports AAA.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Six states were said today by Chester A. Davis, farm administrator, to have paid slightly more than three-fifths of all the processing tax which has been collected on wheat.

They are Minnesota, New York, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Texas with combined collections totaling $96,987,739 in comparison with a total of $158,328,178 for the entire country. The concentration of flour mills in these states was offered as an explanation for this total.

"The taxes collected at these mills ultimately are reflected in the retail prices paid by consumers of flour or bread, wherever they may live," Davis said.

Only one of the six states received returns in benefit payments in connection with the wheat control program to offset directly and immediately the amount collected in taxes. In Kansas, where $15,822,338 was collected in processing taxes, $32,246,197 was paid farmers as benefits for the reduction of wheat acreage.

In Minnesota, $30,025,711 was collected in processing taxes and $1,622,568 was disbursed in crop control benefits; New York paid $17,199,920 in wheat processing taxes compared with $42,489 in benefit payments; Missouri $13,519,645 paid, and $1,853,236 disbursed to wheat farmers; Illinois, $10,496,947 collected in processing taxes, $2,392,697 paid to farmers; Texas, $9,864,178 in processing taxes, $6,243,192 in wheat benefits.

The wheat processing tax is 30 cents a bushel.

Stella Farmer Is New Head Poland China Record Group

(Special to The Star)

STELLA, Neb.—O. E. Higgins, who was named president of the Standard Poland China Record Association at its annual meeting in Marysville, Mo., recently, got the "starters" for his present herd when he bought several pedigreed Poland Chinas at a public sale held by his neighbor, the late Jacob S. Swihart, in 1895.

Mr. Higgins is also a livestock breeder of note. His Holsteins won the gold medal in 1929 as the prize dairy herd of Nebraska. The Higgins family is one of the oldest in this section of the state. Thomas Higgins settled in 1859 in the neighborhood where his grandson, O. E. Higgins, now resides.

Expects More 4-H Sheep Clubs In '35

Walter Tolman, assistant state 4-H club leader, said today he believed there will be an increase in sheep enrollments in 1935. Lack of feed will increase the popularity of the sheep project, he said.

Conclusive Report To Be Made On Direct Marketing

Study of Hog Selling Plan Completed By Government.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The final report on a federal study of direct hog marketing, made in response to farmers' charges direct hog marketing lowered their selling price, will be ready soon. Nils A. Olsen, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, in his annual report to Secretary Wallace, said field work on the study has been completed and that the final report should be ready at an early date.

"The direct hog marketing study," the report says, "was broadened at the request of the agricultural adjustment administration. Some critics maintained that, as a result of direct marketing, the price level for hogs has been reduced by as much as $2 to $3 per hundred pounds below that which would have existed had these animals been sold through central markets. They petitioned the government to prevent the growing practice.

"Supporters of direct marketing on the other hand contend that this method of marketing is the result of natural economic developments which have taken place over a period of years and that this system nets the producers certain definite economies by avoiding during a period of low prices, relatively high marketing costs. It is evident that the federal government should take no action until available facts can be obtained and evaluated."

Cheyenne County To Need Livestock Feed

LeRoy D. Willey, agricultural agent at Sidney, submitted a partial report of feed and livestock conditions in Cheyenne county yesterday to the agricultural college showing some of the county farmers are short to feed for carrying livestock through the winter.

"Possibly we will have to ship in some grain," Willey said, "but concentrates totaling 175 to 200 tons probably will be needed."

Willey, in his report, said farmers in the county probably will try to winter some 25,000 head of cattle, 12,000 hogs, 2,400 horses and 60,000 chickens.

Agricultural Opinions

We are on our way to a controlled agriculture here in America and the sooner it arrives the better for every farmer in the land.—R. W. Blackburn, president, California Farm Bureau Federation and director of American Farm Bureau Federation.

Education alone is not enough for the American farmer today. He must organize and act against the power of concentrated wealth. The fight against the income tax to equalize taxes and for a sales tax which would be borne by the little fellow, is being carried on by concentrated wealth.—Ray W. Gill, master of Oregon State Grange.

The power of the secretary of agriculture to spend money to remove surpluses is one of the greatest steps taken by the agricultural adjustment administration. This past summer it saved the cattle market and the cattle business from ruin.—Victor Christgau, assistant administrator, AAA.

NEW FEED WILL BE READY SOON

Ground Soybean Hay and Molasses Supply To Be Sold.

Ground soybean hay and molasses, soon to be available to Nebraska farmers at cost, should be a good livestock feed, Prof. R. R. Thalman of the Nebraska agricultural college said today.

The price at which this product will be available, he said, will be below corn and alfalfa when the cost of the dairy ration is considered.

Professor Thalman has made the following analysis: Alfalfa hay—Crudge protein 10.6, fat 0.9, carbohydrages 39 per cent, total digestible nutrients 51.6 per cent, nutritive ration 1:3.9; Soybean hay—crude protein 11.7, fat 1.2, carbohydrates 39.2 per cent; total digestible nutrients 53.6, nutritive ratio, 1:3.6.

Huey Plans To Rewrite Constitution

Wants More Power and to Inflict Further Punishment on Foes.

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 21—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long, having written upon the statutes every law he could conceive to make an empire of Louisiana, turned his attention today to drafting a "Kingfish constitution."

His colleagues said he plans to rewrite the state constitution, to take further power from the local governments and to inflict further punishment on the opponents he has as yet been unable to reach.

Administration men asserted after adjournment of the special legislative session yesterday that they expect the legislature to be reconvened in February, to call a constitutional convention.

Among Long's eleventh hour moves with his legislature were an order for ejection of the rival administration of the city of Alexandria and a thrust at the hostile administration of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley in New Orleans by cutting off of the city's $400,000 a year liquor tax, $700,000 a year highway fund and other steps.

Controls Baton Rouge.

Long also took over control of the city of Baton Rouge, where he has been engaged in a struggle for political supremacy since the house impeached him as governor in 1929, when he tried to tax the Standard Oil Co. by levying a 5 cents a barrel occupation tax on oil.

He saved his position then as the head of the state, but lost his tax on oil. Yesterday he had a minor bill amended to place the occupational tax on oil and then the mystery of his third special session of the year was disclosed.

That Long said on the floor, was the purpose of the session.

Only Long knows the potentialities of his nearly 350 dictatorial laws passed this year. Their authority stretches from the pinnacle of the highest executive office and state agency to the poorly-paid public school teacher.

In the general set-up, the dictator can call out an army of state police to execute his orders in the minutest local subdivision where by his far-reaching laws he has virtually wiped out the local government.

Long's dictatorship functions through the office of his ally, Gov. O. K. Allen.

All Aboard for Asia
England Hangs a Woman
By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

At Baltimore a giant airplane labelled "Clipper No. 7" has been launched, and soon will make regular flights across the Pacific. More planes of the same kind will be built presently.

The world grows smaller. Once the narrow English channel kept out invasion. Now the Atlantic and Pacific no longer mean protection. The new ocean is the air.

The world moves slowly, keeps moving. England, has just hanged a woman, no improvement there. But instead of yelling crowds expressing their delight, as used to happen at executions, two hundred and fifty men and women, on their knees, prayed for the woman about to die. And this is the first woman hanged in England in eight years. England used to hang them by the hundreds, torture and burn them.

England could not quite make up her mind not to hang a woman. We hang or electrocute one occasionally here.

British labor members attacked Premier MacDonald because he did not interfere. The king, appealed to, would not meddle with his courts. But the crowd knelt and prayed for the miserable woman, instead of getting drunk, hooting and yelling, as it would have done 100 years ago. There is progress.

It must be ugly work putting a rope around a woman's neck and choking her to death or strapping her in our electric chair. But men are ready to do it for pay and governments permit it, and call themselves civilized.

Mayor LaGuardia will build a municipal power plant for New York City, to end alleged extortionate charges, and may make it big enough to supply all citizens, saving them tens of millions a year while making it possible for the city to reduce taxes.

In former times the suggestion would have been ridiculous. Utility owners would have asked, smiling: "Mayor LaGuardia, where will you get the money? Will any bank finance you, since all banks hold our securities?"

But Uncle Sam himself is in business, New York's mayor expects to get money to fight private ownership of public monopolies from the national government. One hundred and eight million dollars mean little to Uncle Sam.

With big automobile shows not far away, statistics supplied by "Motor," organ of the automobile industry, interest us all.

More than a million passenger cars were scrapped in 1934 and in spite of that, the number in use increased by 900,000. That is the first automobile gain since 1929, a more encouraging sign. It brings the total number of automobiles in operation above the 1928 figures.

The administration will be pleased to know that its "encouragement of agriculture is reflected in automobile purchases." States that lead in automobile increase are all cotton and other farming states: South Carolina, increased 25.9 per cent; Wyoming 21.7; Arizona, 19.8; Florida, 18.2; Montana, 18.1; Oregon, 16; North Carolina, 14.8, and Georgia, 14.7.

Farmers get more money, thanks to the administration, and they have been spending it, most wisely, buying new automobiles.

VICTOR HERMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Found Shortly After Renting Room In Which to Rest.

Victor W. Herman, 66, 2538 Holdrege street, was found dead in a room at 1424 O street about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, an hour after he had gone to the rooming house and engaged a room, explaining that he wanted to lie down because he was not feeling well.

Death was apparently due to a heart attack, Dr. Frank Graham said.

Death was discovered when the landlady, Mrs. E. E. Adams sent her son, Thomas Bayne, to see if Mr. Herman was comfortable. Mr. Herman was an old friend of the family.

Hurt Last Fall.

Mr. Herman suffered a fractured skull about three months ago when a screen fell and struck him on the head. Dr. Miles Breuer recalled. Dr. Breuer attended him then and has examined him a number of times since. He said that Mr. Herman appeared to be in good physical health.

Mr. Herman was an attendant at a Mobiloil Oil company filling station and had lived in Lincoln for the past 14 years.

He is survived by his wife, Alice R.; five sons, Lester, Harry, Harvin, Ray and Maurice, all at home; and four daughters, Louise, Jennie, Hazel and Iva, all at home.

The body is at Roberts.

J. M. VanderSlice Dies; Cheney Farmer

James M. Vander Slice, 64, who for 52 years had resided on a farm near Cheney, died at a local hospital at 9:45 o'clock Thursday night. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. W. Wolfe of Wheatland, Wyo., and Miss Bertha VanderSlice at home; and five brothers, Frank, William and Howard of Cheney, Dr. E. R. of Lansing Mich., and Dr. A. M. of Springfield, Neb. The body is at Castle, Roper & Matthews mortuary.

NORRIS OPPOSES BUSINESS MEN'S DOLE PROPOSAL

Hopkins Leads Fight on Plan to Swing Away From Work Relief.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—A proposal by business leaders that the government swing away from work relief to direct aid to the distressed ran today into a growing opposition, led by Harry L. Hopkins.

The relief administrator, as well as Secretary Ickes, Senator Norris of Nebraska, and others voiced criticism, indicating this portion of the platform adopted by the White Sulphur Springs gathering of 90 business men would win out only after a battle.

While Hopkins flung criticisms at the suggestion and the White House received the entire platform without comment, leaders of the joint business conference for recovery drove ahead with attempts to win farmers and labor to their views.

A meeting with farm leaders was being planned for January, with a labor conference set for later. But American Federation of Labor chiefs took the labor relations section of the recovery platform as opposed to "majority rule" in collective bargaining. The federation has fought for this for a year.

Hopkins Sarcastic.

"Some people, spending two or three days thinking about how relief should be handled, decided in the sacred precincts of White Sulphur Springs that the unemployed should receive baskets on Christmas," Hopkins said.

"No doubt they have visited many families in need and know all about these people. Otherwise they wouldn't presume to tell the American people how relief should be administered.

"I haven't changed my mind about relief. I am 100 per cent for work relief and always have been."

Secretary Ickes said "the dole doesn't appeal to me," while Norris declared, "I don't favor the dole." The United conference of mayors had issued a statement saying it would "bitterly fight" any attempt to hold up work relief in congress.

Shortage Of Engineers Predicted By Gunther

Alumnus Addresses University Group; Initiation Held For Twelve Men.

In 1938 a shortage of engineers will call for adequately trained men, Fred J. Gunther, University of Nebraska, '14, told members of Sigma Tau, engineering fraternity, at an initiation banquet Thursday night at the Lincoln hotel.

Citing a statistical study to show that "there will be a deficiency of men in the engineering profession by 1938", Mr. Gunther, himself an electrical engineer, urged the students to broaden their interests as much as possible. "A good engineer should interest himself in city, state and national governmental problems in these times," he said.

At afternoon ceremonies 12 new men were initiated into the organization.

They are: John C. Bishop, Carl L. Erb, Maurice R. Garrison, Ralph A. Doubt and A. Orville Taylor, all of Lincoln; Kenneth Waugh, Valley; Frederick J. Mallon, Grand Island; Peter J. Jensen, Ainsworth; Ernest G. Guenzel, Coleridge; Paul E. Humphrey, Giltner; and Ralph O. Cronquist, Genoa.

Membership keys were presented to the new men by Verne Hedge, '04 a charter member of Sigma Tau which was founded here. Hugh Gray, president of the fraternity, welcomed the initiates, and Peter J. Jensen responded. Prof. V. L. Hollister was toastmaster.

Faculty guests called on for informal remarks were Dean O. J. Ferguson, Prof. Jiles W. Haney, Prof. W. L. DeBaufre, Prof. Oskar Edison, and Prof. C. A. Sjogren. About 35 attended. Howard Simonson was program chairman.

Judgment for $35,000 Against North Western Railroad Is Reversed

Maurice E. Sullivan's $35,000 judgment against the North Western railroad for personal injuries suffered in the road's employ was reversed on reargument and remanded to the Douglas county District court for retrial.

Sullivan was injured August 11, 1931, near Boone, Ia., when he tripped on a wooden platform and fell to a track. He was a member of a train crew engaged in interstate commerce and the action was brought under the federal employer's liability act. The judgment was originally upheld by the Supreme court, but on rehearing, it found that Sullivan failed to establish the railroad's negligence in failing to keep the platform in repair.

RAGING ATLANTIC STORMS ABATING

21 Lives Lost in Sea Tragedies Last 10 Days Ships Delayed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—Savage storms which for ten days whipped the north Atlantic into a death-dealing tumult flung a dying gesture of defiance at shipping today.

Strong winds and heavy seas continued to slow up trans-Atlantic vessels, but the great force of the storms had been spent and more moderate weather over the Atlantic was forecast.

Twenty-one lives were given up to ravaging seas as gales battered ocean-going vessels since the storms started. Seventeen men were lost when the British freighter Usworth foundered, two men were swept from the Japanese freighter Victoria maru, while the Orient liner Orford and the Norwegian freighter Gard each reported they had lost a man overboard in mountainous seas.

The collier Severance, with a crew of 41, made her way slowly to Boston today after winning a bitter battle against a gale-swept sea off the Long Island coast south of Fire island.

The fishing trawler Widgeon, which had asked assistance when she became disabled 100 miles east of Boston, later reported she had made repairs and was in no danger.

Burns Back in Indiana Prison

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 21—(AP)—Joseph Burns, one-time Dillinger henchman, today was back in the Indiana penitentiary from which he and nine other prisoners escaped in 1933 with the aid of John Dillinger.

Warden Lewis Kunkel and a group of Indiana guards escorted Burns under heavy guard from Chicago last night where he was arrested by U. S. postal officials and Chicago police in a raid on a south side apartment.

Burns waived extradition proceedings, Warden Kunkel said, and was returned to serve a life sentence for murder, leaving only two of ten prisoners who escaped unaccounted for. John Hamilton and Joseph Fox are fugitives; the rest are dead or back in custody.

No extra charge STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERFUEL with TETRAETHYL

LINCOLN, Dec. 21 (Special)—Lincoln motorists are playing a new game called "Look for the Plaque on the Pump." Whenever they buy gasoline, they scrutinize the pump for the metal plaque required by law, proving that the gasoline contains tetraethyl. For they know that tetraethyl is the finest anti-knock fluid—the same valuable fluid which accounts for the extra 2c on premium gasoline. And now that a certain amount of tetraethyl is in Standard Red Crown, they see no reason to accept ordinary gasoline that doesn't have it. For Standard Red Crown doesn't cost a penny more than "regular" gasoline—yet it's got Live Power, and it's got that plaque on the pump!

In a brief accompanying the motion for rehearing, his counsel ask the court to clarify the decision regarding admissibility of certain evidence presented by the state concerning two transactions with the South Omaha State bank.

Ogle's Sermon—Rabbi J. J. Ogle will speak on the topic, "Holiday Spirit," at the Jewish temple, Twentieth and South streets, Friday night at 7:45 o'clock.

Wyant Fined — Jacob Wyant pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny Friday morning in Municipal court and was fined $15 and costs. He admitted taking a pair of gloves from Gold's.

Bank Dividend.— A first dividend of $9,348, representing 10 per cent of accounts, is being paid by the state receivership division to patrons of the suspended Clay County State bank at Edgar.

Webber Found Guilty—R. C. Webber was found guilty of illegal possession of liquor, Friday morning in Municipal court and fined $100 and costs. He gave notice of appeal. The state charges were filed after a police raid on a club operated by Webber last month.

Lancaster Remittance.—Lancaster county's cash remittance to the state treasury for December is $36,243, nearly all of which is the state's share of tax collections made in November and the first part of the current month. This is slightly more than Douglas county turned in.

Barn Completed—One of two storage barns erected from salvage material by FERA labor has been completed at Antelope park, Commissioner Oberlies said. The structure being put up at Pioneers park is about half finished. The buildings will be used for storing park equipment.

Osterman In City. — Theo M. whom Governor-elect Cochran named several weeks ago as his private secretary, is spending a day or two in Lincoln seeing officials at the capital and loking up various matters with which the new administration will be called upno to deal. Mr. Osterman will come to Lincoln to stay about January 1 and will lvie during the winter at the Lindell hotel.

Perkins Taxes Up.— Tax footings for Perkins county, reported to State Tax Commissioner Smith, show an increase of $3,800 in the total, which is $219,834 for 1934. School levies are $8,000 less and the state levy is $2,300 below last year, but the county revenue is $12,000 more and municipal taxes have been boosted $1,600. For old age pensions the estimated tax yield is $1,088.

Readmission Asked—Readmission of the Globe & Rutgers Insurance Co., a New York concern, to Nebraska is asked in a telegram received by the state insurance department, stating that the company has been reorganized and released from control of the New York department, which took it over in 1932. The Nebraska license was revoked at that time, but will now be reissued.

Lindsay Fined.—Frank Lindsay transient, who Monday pleaded not guilty to petit larceny, appeared in Municipal court Friday morning, changed his plea to guilty and was fined a total of $25 and costs on two counts. Lindsay admitted taking a jacket and two pairs of trousers from Sears Roebuck and company, and a sweater from Montgomery Ward. Frank Nelson, arrested with Lindsay was dismissed.

Street Work Progresses.—Concrete pouring on the North Twenty-seventh street project will be completed Friday evening or Saturday, Commissioner Bair said. He added that it will be some time before the asphalt covering will be finished. Workmen probably will next be moved to Thirty-first and Sheridan boulevard to remove a section of center parking which partially blocks the Thirty-first street crossing.

City Appealing Award—A resolution instructing the city attorney to appeal to District court a compensation award granted Merritt Nellis, FERA employe, was filed Friday with City Clerk Berg by Pak Commissioner Oberlies. A decision of the compensation commissioner ordered the city to pay Merritt $6 per week during his temporary disability which the workman claims resulted from the partial loss of a finger while working on a park project last September. Since Nellis was an FERA employe, the city claims no liability.

SENTENCE 6 IN FEDERAL COURT

revenue statute and said he believed it was meant to be enforced seriously. Talkington pleaded not guilty to a fourth count charging him with engaging in wholesale and retail liquor business without a license. U. S. District Attorney Nye said he probably would dismiss the count.

Dyer Act Violators.

Robert Hansen, 21, and Henry alias Richard Tucker, 21, were each sentenced to two years at Leavenworth for alleged violations of the Dyer act. Tucker is said to have transported a stolen car from Kansas City to Nebraska City on November 29. Hanson allegedly transported a stolen car from Wheeling, W. Va., to Aurora, Neb.

When Judge Munger asked Hanson what he had to say for himself, Hanson, obviously an educated young man, replied that he would go straight if he had a chance. "After I got out of Petersburg (where he served a recent term) I tried to get a job in Chicago. I was honest and told them I had a record, but they turned me down. So finally I lied to get a job, but the record caught up with me and I was fired. I thought the best thing to do was to steal a car and get away, so I did." He said he was married and would go straight if he had a chance.

Hits Mail Boxes.

Darrell Findley, 20, of near McCool Junction was fined $50 for alleged destruction of mail boxes. Findley told Judge Munger that he was only trying to see how close he could come to the mail boxes and the judge replied: "You must have pretty poor aim because you knocked down seven of them."

Arraignment of six persons charged with harboring the robbers of the Security National bank of Superior, was postponed until January 5, pending the filing of motions for bills of particulars in behalf of three of the defendants.

Attorney Richard Stout who represents Mrs. Limerick, Mrs. Denning and Nellie Rhodes Likens, three of the sextet, has already filed such a motion and said Theola Giermann, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Berry, also intend to take similar action.

Argument on Bonds.

Defense arguments to reduce the $5,000 bonds of the six defendants will be heard by Judge Munger Saturday morning.

Stout also said he had filed a motion for a bill of particulars for E. E. and Richard Slepicka and Jim Havel charged with conspiracy to evade the internal revenue laws. Richard C. Morgan and George F. Conley also charged in the same case, entered not guilty pleas during the morning.

The Slepickas and Havel will be arraigned January 5.

Demurrers by Coniglios.

Attorney Rolla Van Kirk announced he had demurred to the indictments charging Tony Coniglio and Sara Coniglio with a revenue conspiracy and the attorney for Joseph Ullman of Cass county said he was preparing a motion to quash in the case against his client.

Not guilty pleas were entered by the following:

Ralph Ellis, alleged internal revenue violation.

Robert L. Reed, alleged Dyer act violation.

Amos Bonawitz alleged alteration of money.

missioner at the same time, succeeding A. E. May.

The Tusa appointment runs for a little over a year to fill out the balance of a regular term ending December 31, 1935. A state law fixes the tenure of incumbency for the Douglas county election supervisor at two years, expiring on that date in each odd-numbered year. Up to this time, Governor Bryan neglected making any appointment either in 1931 or 1933, and McHugh has continued to serve as a holdover official.

Pays Good Salary.

Salary of the election commissioner is $3,000 a year, but McHugh has been drawing $1,000 a year additional as jury commissioner, under appointment by the judges of the district court. It is optional with the judges whether they appoint the election commissioner to serve in this capacity or pick someone else. The chief deputy election commissioner is paid $1,800 a year.

Tusa is a democrat and Cullingham a republican, the law specifying that the two officials shall not be affiliated with the same political party. McHugh, the retiring commissioner, is a republican, originally appointed by Governor McKelvie 13 years ago, and his aide, May, is a democrat.

Both Tusa and Cullingham have heretofore been engaged in the real estate and insurance business in Omaha, but not together, Governor Bryan said.

In explaining his belated action, Governor Bryan said that until recently he had heard of no opposition to Commissioner McHugh and public sentiment in Douglas county seemed to be in favor of his retention, but that within the past few months there had been some demand for a change, though no serious criticism of the present officials had reached him.

Nice Christmas Gift.

A number of prominent Omahans, the governor declared, endorsed Tusa for the appointment, among them being Chairman Frank Riha of the Douglas county board, City Attorney Seymour Smith, City Prosecutor D. J. O'Brien, William Ritchie, and others. Bryan himself has known Tusa for a long time.

The election commissioner has charge of registration of voters in the city of Omaha and the conduct of all elections held there and in Douglas county. There will be no general election for Tusa to supervise within the period for which his appointment runs, but Omaha will hold a municipal primary and election next spring. For the most part, the office and the salary that goes with it will constitute a Christmas gift by the outgoing governor to one of his personal and political friends.

McHugh Says Politics.

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—W. D. McHugh, jr., Douglas county election commission who will be supplanted by Anton Tusa, said when notified he had been displaced by Governor Bryan that "Governor Bryan is the first governor to use the office of election commissioner as a political football."

"Harley Moorhead, who was the first election commissioner, was kept in office for ten years under both democrats and republicans," said McHugh who has himself served for 12 years under both republican and democratic governors.

McHugh said he believed Governor Bryan had made the appointment in the last few days of his term to embarrass Governor-elect Cochran.

Tusa is an insurance man and has been an ally of Frank Riha, defeated chairman of the county board and a member of the "Bryan wing" of the democratic party.

J. V. CARNES DIES; STATE PIONEER

moved to Iowa as a youth and at the age of 24 on August 12, 1862 enlisted in the Union army, serving with Company B of the 29th Iowa Infantry volunteers. He served until August 10, 1865 when he was honorably discharged at New Orleans.

On July 9, 1864 he was promoted to be a corporal, and later in the same year he was wounded at Jenkins Ferry, Ark. At the time of his enlistment, it was understood that his Iowa unit was to join Sherman's army, but the unit was unable to get across the Mississippi river in time to join the Army of the Tennessee.

Following the war, Mr. Carnes came to Nebraska where he had made his home for nearly 70 years. He was a member of Farragut post of the G. A. R. here. He cast his first vote in 1860 for Abraham Lincoln and again voted for the emancipator in 1864.

Went West In 1856.

In 1856 he first went across the prairies to California, returning to Glenwood, Ia., in 1859. After he was mustered out of the army he moved to Lousiville, Neb., and later moved to Greenwood. He came to Lincoln in 1914.

In 1873 he became a member of the Masonic lodge No. 18 at Ashland, and he later affiliated with Unity lodge No. 163 and East Lincoln lodge No. 210 in Lincoln. He was actively connected with the Christian church at Greenwood, helping build it in the early '70s, and serving as elder for 50 years. After moving to Lincoln he was affiliated with the East Lincoln and First Christian churches.

Mr. Carnes was married twice, four children of the first marriage surviving him. They are Mrs. Isaac Wiles of Weeping Water, J. S. and Jessie Carnes of Neligh, and Melvin J. Carnes of Johnson. His second wife, the former Rhoda H. Bowman, whom he married on June 23, 1870, survives, as do six of the nine children born to them. They are: Mrs. Frank Van Dorn of Carpenter, Wyo.; Mrs. Niles Coleman of Greenwood; and Misses Rhoda and Mary Carnes and O. F. Carnes and Mrs. P. M. Johnson, all of Lincoln.

CHRISTMAS TREES AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The white house was bedecked today for Christmas.

Four Christmas trees were on the wide front portico. Inside in the east room, open to the public, stood a 25-foot tree. The family tree soon will be set up on the second floor.

On Christmas eve Mr. Roosevelt will go to Lafayette park opposite the white house and light the tall community Christmas tree there. In all probability he will give a greeting to the nation over the radio.

JAPAN CHARGES U.S. 'OBSTINACY' CAUSED FAILURE

power naval conversations as Emperor Hirohito signed documents abrogating the Washington treaty.

For Japan there can be no turning back on the road leading her outside the scheme of naval stability established in the Washington and London treaties, as the documents bear his majesty's own seal and are irrevocable.

The chief question now confronting the government is to select the most expedient time to notify the state department in Washington of her renunciation.

That Japan is still watching the London situation closely while choosing a date for the notification was indicated in an announcement by Koki Hirota, foreign minister, that Rirosi Saito, ambassador to the United States, would consult Tsuneo Matusaira, ambassador to London, before making an appointment with Secretary of State Hull.

The foreign office is preparing to seize the occasion of notification, which probably will be on December 27, to issue a statement to the nation declaring that renunciation of the treaty was actuated by the mose peaceful motives. The statement is designed to lessen friction between the powers and stabilize peace in the east.

Will Press for Action.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—A move to increase American fortification in the Pacific was described today as virtually certain to develop in congress after Japan formally scraps the Washington naval treaty.

A possible naval base and an inland air base in Alaska already are being discussed on Capitol hill.

Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska's democratic delegate to congress, said he planned to press for action on a measure to establish an air base.

devoting time outside their regular work to investigating the need for improvements and repairs asked in budget requests of spending agencies. It was this procedure which Cochran said would enable him to base his budget.

Few New Buildings.

"There will be no new buildings," Cochran said, as far as his budget recommendations are concerned. He qualified this a moment later by saying there would be "virtually none," thus leaving the way open to recommend appropriations if the study by engineers indicates some new structures are essential.

"The engineers," he said, "have been going over conditions at the various state institutions, examining the buildings for which the board of control has asked money for repairs.

"That is the only way really to know what is needed. If I'd call the board in to explain what is needed and why, I wouldn't know much more than when I read their recommendations. But if one of the men with whom I have worked examines conditions and reports to me, then I know just what needs to be done."

Is Against Library.

Cochran said definitely he would not recommend appropriation of funds to build a new library at the University of Nebraska.

"I've been here three days trying to show federal officials how serious the conditions of our state is," he commented. "It would be pretty inconsistent, wouldn't it, to turn around and ask a big appropriation for something like that?"

The governor-elect said his budget must reflect the state's condition and hold appropriations for state agencies to the absolute essentials.

He indicated he expects to be able to shave requests for repairs substantially on this basis of necessity, but that increasing costs would make some increases over appropriations by the last legislature necessary.

Burlington Probing Break in Rail Ahead Of Speeding Zephyr

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Dec. 21—(AP)—Burlington officials today were investigating a 10-inch break in the track near here, discovered by Millard C. Bachman, northern gas and pipe line employe, a few minutes before the Zephyr speed train was due to pass Tuesday. Bachman notified railroad officials immediately, and traffic was delayed for a short time while section crews repaired the damage. The break is believed to have been caused by a fast mail train from Chicago.

2 Counterfeiter Suspects Taken

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—Alan G. Straight, principal federal secret sevice operative in this district, disclosed today that two men were arrested early today by secret service agents who descended on the little community of Centreville, N. J., and captured what they described as one of the largest and most efficient counterfeiting plants in the east.

Straight said the prisoners described themselves as Pete Domonkos, an unemployed engraver, and his brother, Paul, a painter.

Peter's wife was arrested yesterday in a Pittsburgh suburb. Straight said she was identified as a passer of counterfeit notes.

Mrs. Myrta Hoag, 54, Passes Away Thursday

Wife Of Rudge and Guenzel Department Manager Had Lived Here Since 1919.

Mrs. Myrta Hoag, 54, resident of Lincoln since 1919, died at a local hospital Thursday evening. She was the wife of Lee S. Hoag, department manager at Rudge & Guenzel's. Her home was at 5702 Huntington avenue. Her former home was at Colorado Springs.

She is survived by he husband, to whom she had been married since 1906; two daughters, Betty and Jean at home; and three sons, John Boyd of Long Beach, Cal., Arthur Lee of Beatrice, and Raymond at home.

The body is at Wadlow's mortuary.

7 DIE AS DUTCH PLANE PLUNGES

planes and armored cars had been pressed into a hunt for the liner.

Unaware of Tragedy.

Unaware of the fate which had overtaken their countrymen, two veteran Dutch pilots hopped off from Amsterdam this morning to aid in the search. They were G. J. Geysendorfer, who was pilot for the late Van Lear Black, Baltimore, Md., publisher, and Commander Sillevis.

Exactly one month ago today 50,000 persons cheered "the Flying Hotel" when it returned to Amsterdan after winning the handicap race in the Melbourne derby.

Its pilots on that flight, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, were honored by Queen Wilhelmina. The plane was second in the derby.

The scene of the crash, midway between the coast of Palestine and Baghdad, is a desolate one.

Sharp ridges rise out of great stretches of sandy desert, crisscrossed by narrow gorges which make a forced landing almost certain death.

Heavy rains, which had hindered the land search, made a landing doubly dangerous.

Pilots of the ship had hoped to reach Batavia in time to deliver Christmas mail and presents to colonists. They sought to make the flight in five days, establishing a record. The plane left Cairo a few hours before the crash.

trouble in getting back into this country.

The silver-haired defendant's action in drawing $344,720 from Middle West Utilities Co. treasury in October, 1931 to bolster a sagging stock market account was branded "theft" by prosecutors.

A federal court jury last month required only slightly more than two hours to acquit his brother and business preceptor, Samuel, and 17 co-defendants of mail order fraud in another transaction growing out of the collapse of the Insull utility empire.

Special Ordination Advancing 2 Students To Deacon Rank Held

Two theological students of the Lincoln diocese were advanced to the rank of deacons at special ordination services held at St. Mary's cathedral Friday morning. They were Rev. Mr. Edward Jarorowski and Rev. Mr. Ladislaus Potocki, who were advanced to the sub-deacon ranking at services held Wednesday. A third student, Rev. Mr. Felix Anrejkiewicez, of Bismark, N. D., diocese, was given the ranking of acolyte and exorcist.

Most Rev. Louis B. Kucera, bishop of the Lincoln diocese, was celebrant of the mass, assisted by Mgsr. P. L. O'Loughlin, assistant priest; Rev. Andrew DeMuth, Rev. Thomas Kealey, and Rev. Lawrence Obrist, chaplains; Rev. Clarence Riordon, master of ceremonies; Rev. L. V. Barnes, who explained the services to the audience of 200 Cathedral school children and many adults; and Rev. Young School Set Arriving In Lincoln For Holidays

Numerous Schools And Academies Represented In The Group; Col. And Mrs. F. E. Overholser And Miss Frances Leave For Honolulu.

SCRAPS From a Soc Ed's Note Book—Much train-meeting this week—The Young school set is arriving home for Christmas from a variety of places and at all hours—Miss Janet Lau and Miss Elizabeth Waugh are already home — They came this morning from Dana Hall—Ed Sickel, jr., arrives home Saturday morning from Harvard law school—We understand that he is to be met at the train in Omaha by the lovely Mary Updike, and after a few minutes visit, will come to Lincoln for a matter of a few hours, then he returns to Omaha for a party in the evening—Home within the next day or two from Northwestern will be Miss Dorothy Cortelyou, who is a senior in the school of journalism there, and Harvey Lanman—Bill Bell arrived today from Wentworth Military academy to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Grace Bell.

ZEPHYR-ING along to Omaha the other day were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reeve and who should they meet on the train but Mrs. Livingston Bond Keplinger, (Martha Quiggle) who had been spending the day in Lincoln on business, and was speeding towards the Pacific coast and home. Mr. and Mrs. Keplinger returned not so long ago from abroad where they were guests at the wedding of the Duke of Kent and the Princess Marina.

* * *

VARIOUS UNIVERSITY and social groups in Lincoln will be interested to know that Mrs. Henry Pinkney Phyfe of New York City, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pancoast, is in Omaha, and will be joined Saturday by Mr. Phyfe. They will spend Christmas with Mrs. Phyfe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Pancoast, and will leave the latter part of next week to be in New York City in time for New Year's.

* * *

UNDERSTAND that Lauer Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester K. Ward, who, because of illness did not return to Harvard last semester, will go back to school after the holiday period.

TWO YEARS in Honolulu sounds almost like paradise—Colonel and Mrs. F. E. Overholser and their daughter, Miss Frances Overholser, are the fortunates who are to do just that. Colonel Overholser and his family left by motor Wednesday for Los Angeles where they will take a transport to Honolulu. The Colonel is to be stationed there for the next two years.

MORE HOLIDAY guests arriving Saturday—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Trester of Chicago are coming Saturday evening to spend Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Trester and Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson.

IN AN EIGHTSOME group for luncheon today at the University club, for which Chancellor Emeritus and Mrs. Samuel Avery were host and hostess as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pugsley, were Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, and Prof. and Mrs. H. E. Bradford.

AND AT THE University club this evening, Miss Louise Perry will preside at a dinner for six guests, as a courtesy to Miss Bernice Lyons and her fiance, Allen Wilson, whose marriage will take place Saturday, December 29.

HEAR THAT THE Will Raymonds are spending Christmas in Denver. Mrs. Raymond is already there at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Monroe Gleason, and Mr. Gleason, and Mr. Raymond leaves Saturday.

WESLEY CLASS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Wesley Sunday school class of Trinity M. E. church will have a Christmas party this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Cecil Smith, 4150 Sheridan boulevard, with Mr. and Mrs. Verne Smith assisting. The twelve couples will have an informal evening, during which carols will be sung. A decorated Christmas tree will give a seasonal atmosphere to the room. Refreshments are to be served.

CAMBRIDGE-LINCOLN CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. A. C. Easton and Mrs. J. W. Hitchcock were hostesses to the Cambridge - Lincoln club Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Easton. Sixteen were seated at small tables made attractive with Christmas decorations, for luncheon. Christmas quotations were given in response to roll call and Christmas carols were sung. Gifts were exchanged around a Christmas tree and Mrs. Easton acted as Santa Claus. Nancy Wagey and Edwin Charles Perry passed the gifts. "The Evolution of the Christmas Stocking," a reading, was given by Miss Barbara Perry and Miss Liona Easton sang two songs, "Virgin Slumber Song" and "Ah, Love, but a Day." Mrs. Easton read an original story written and illustrated by Elaine Easton. Christmas messages signed by the members were sent to shut-ins. Guests were Mrs. L. W. Rouse of Los Angeles, Mrs. Theodore Merritt, Mrs. Mary Olmstead and Miss Mary Boyd. The club will meet January 8, with Mrs. Floyd A. Phillips, with Mrs. Harold Wagey assisting.

LIVE WIRE CLUB HONORS MISS HULFISH

Miss Margaret Hulfish was the honoree at a combination shower and Christmas party Thursday night given by the Live Wire club at the Cornhusker hotel. The party's theme was "Jingle Bells Turn to Wedding Bells' 'and tables were decorated with miniature Santa Clauses, reindeer, sleds, trees, white tapers and silvered poinsettias. Tables radiated from a large central tree.

Hostesses for the event were Ruth Hester, Vere Allen, Claire Wehr, Marie Schuker, Dorothy Mahoney, Jean Holtman and Blanche Hyatt. H. S. Gildersleeve and Miss Hyatt took the roles of "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus" in gift distribution. About 80 attended.

Music was by Verlee Tree, violinist, and Ellen Hulbert, pianist. Tiny tots Joan Davison and Joanne Kelly entertained with ballet dancing and Clyde and Bobby Munson served as newsboys for the distribution of a party paper. Miss Hulfish will be married to Rasche Myers at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at Vine Congregational church.

PRE-NUPTIAL COURTESY HONORS MISS WRIGHT

Honoring Miss Lucile Wright of Stromsburg, whose marriage to Dale Fahnestock of Lincoln will be an event of the holidays, Mrs. A. C. Morrill, Mrs. R. J. Hansaker and Mrs. Wallace Scott, all of Stromsburg, entertained at an attractive tea last Tuesday afternoon at the Morrill homestead. The rooms were decorated throughout with Christmas greens, holly, and silver bells, and were lighted only by the colored lights of the trees and the red and green Christmas tapers.

The guests were seated for refreshments at small tables appointed in a color motif of green and red, with miniature silver bells as place cards. The table of the bride-to-be was arranged with green crystal, and her place was marked with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Games formed the afternoon's entertainment, which was concluded with the arrival of Santa Claus who presented the honored guest with her gifts from the tree and also escorted her on a treasure hunt where the remainder of them were concealed.

VACATION BRINGS END TO STUDENTS' SERIOUS THOUGHTS

BY BEAU PEEP.

NO MORE school! Two perfectly beautiful blessed weeks of vacation with nothing on your mind but fun—At least in the majority of minds there will be no serious thoughts—

Of course there is Chuck Flansburg, (A. T. O.) who will probably spend a little time wondering why a certain young lady turned him down on a date. It seems as though she discovered that after a previous date she had had with the young man, he had taken a late date elsewhere, which was not to her liking—more a matter of principle than interest.

* * *

WE WONDER if that procrastinating S. A. E. has finally made up his mind about his date for his fraternity formal this evening. The latest bulletin showed two Betas in the line for reenforcements. How about it, Giff?

* * *

Do you remember we did a little hinting last week about Polly Pollard and Bob Benson — Well, the story ended just as we thought it would. They've passed the candy at the Chi Omega house, and the cigars over at the Sig Ep house.

WHY didn't someone think of this one on the Nebraska campus? The Illinois chapter of Sigma Delta Chi wants Mae West to attend the famous Axe- Grinders ball at Urbana. In the invitation which the blonde actress received the committee on invitations stated: "We feel that you, Miss West, typify the American spirit as it is today. You are a boon to newspaper men and now the professional writers invite you to join them in the biggest party of the year." We haven't heard Mae's reply.

* * *

SOMEONE suggests that we do a little checking on the Phi Psi Flash McLean — concerning his moves, and, we might add, his moods—They simply can't understand his vague fluttering from the D. G. house to the Theta domicile.

What's this about Hank Kosman, the D. U. Innocent, going dramatic on us. Hank plays the role of a soldier in the forthcoming University Players production, "Yellow Jack," and we hear tell as how the boy has talent.

MARGE SOUDERS must have felt right at home at the Sigma Nu-Sig Alpha field day party—It seems the theme song for the evening was, "No, No, a Thousand Times No."

* * *

What's anybody doing about Bill Fisher's (A. T. O.) cold? He has such ad dawful dold in id ead.

* * *

WHO do you suppose sent Franklin Meyers that box of chocolate covered cherries for Christmas—? My, my — and Sidney Smith got a whole carton of gum. There must be something back of all this.

* * *

The Kappas got the candy and the Sigma Nus the cigars last Monday night—Heartiest congratulations to two grand people—Sue Gibbs and "Doc" Plimpton from the campus.

JUDGMENT FOR MASONS UPHELD

Court Finds Against Former Officers Of Lincoln Trust.

The Nebraska supreme court Friday affirmed a $10,000 judgment given the Masonic Building Corp., Lincoln, against four former officials of the Lincoln Trust Co., in an action in which the lodge organization alleged breach of trust in investing funds on the part of the defendants, Carl C. Carlsen, former president of the trust company, and John A. Reichenbach, Paul Holm and William R. Mellor.

Judge E. E. Good dissented from the majority opinion.

The Masonic organization alleged that it had intrusted to the trust company funds with which it was intended to build a temple. The funds were entrusted to the trust company under a written agreement providing for their investment, it was charged.

Defense objections to District Judge Broady's hearing the case on the ground that he was a member of a Masonic lodge interested in the building corporation were found by the supreme court to be without merit, and did not disqualify him to hear the case. The opinion said that it was not shown that Judge Broady's Masonic affiliation influenced his conduct of the trial, and said defense objection to his presiding was made late in the trial, at an "inopportune time."

Game Conservation Reaches Goal Sum For Purchase Feed

It was "over the top" for the chamber of commerce wild game conservation committee at its report meeting Friday noon. A total of $112.90 has been collected to date, Chairman Joe Winterhalter said. The tentative goal set at the drive's beginning Monday was $100. Solicitation will continue until Friday December 28.

MRS. F. A. DIEHL DIES.

CRAWFORD, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Frank A. Diehl, pioneer of this vicinity and prominent in W. C. T. U. work in this section of Nebraska, died here Thursday.

FINDS OLD CHECK.

(By the Associated Press.)

STELLA, Neb., Dec. 21— T. H. Winfrey received a surprise Chrismas gift Tuesday from the treasurer of Nemaha county, a check for $1.85, dated March 25, 1919. Mr. Winfrey had done road work amounting to $1.85, filed his claim but never received his pay. The claim was allowed but the check was misplaced and was not found until this week.

DR. BURNETT TO WED.

OPEN HOUSE ON SUNDAY

THE hostess who can serve an impromptu meal efficiently and graciously to guests who drop in late Sunday afternoon or in the evening establishes an enviable reputation for hospitality.

Seemingly without effort, she transforms the formal appearance of the buffet into a most appetizing picture. Gaily the guests help themselves to the tasty food. Conversation becomes brighter. Everybody feels at home. There are pleasant compliments, too, when it's time to say good-bye

How does she do it? It's likely that she gets many helpful suggestions from the advertisements in this newspaper.

Just notice the advertisements that tell of tempting varieties of cheese, potted meats and sea food; canned fruits and vegetables for salads; spicy relishes; tasty crisp crackers; dainty cakes and taste-tingling beverages. An assortment of these on your pantry shelves will reassure you when your friends drop in and will give your invitation—"Won't you stay for supper?"—a genuine, cordial quality that cannot be denied.

STOP USING DRUGS FOR CONSTIPATION. EAT HONEY KRUSHED WHEAT BREAD

Doctors Warn Against the Use of Irritating Drugs. New Honey Krushed Wheat Bread Relieves Bowel Troubles in Nature's Own Way!

Your family doctor will tell you that the use of drugs, purges and strong cathartics often does serious harm instead of correcting constipation and bowel disorders. Most of them irritate the delicate membrane lining of the stomach and intestines and compel you to take more and more.

The new Honey Krushed Wheat Bread baked by the Wilke Baking Company relieves constipation in a natural way by supplying the diet with just the required amount of roughage to prevent clogged intestines. It also contains a liberal supply of pure honey and other ingredients which have a stimulating, gentle action upon the intestines.

Hundreds of local people are ending their bowel worries by eating the delicious new Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. Its delightful taste and delightful action is amazing. It is especially recommended for children as Honey Krushed Wheat Bread will not "clog up" in the large intestine as is sometimes the case with bran.

If you have tried eating whole wheat breads but do not care for their flat, woody taste, a new taste thrill awaits you when you eat Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. It is totally different from any bread you have eaten heretofore. Yet it safely relieves constipation through the use of the whole wheat in crushed form, pure honey and other ingredients.

Make This Ten-Day Test.

Instead of taking laxatives two or three times a week, all you need do is start eating Honey Krushed Wheat Bread at every meal for the next ten days. After the third or fourth day you will begin to feel more peppy, your bowels will begin to move regularly and the dangerous poisons which have accumulated in your system will be gone. Before you know it your complexion will clear up and you will feel like a new person. Then keep well this simple new way by eating Honey Krushed Wheat Bread at every meal.

Ask your grocer today for the new Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. It is all ready sliced, wrapped in a new moisture proof cellophane wrapper and has a liberal extra coating of crushed wheat upon the outer crust. Be sure to ask for Honey Krushed. Do not accept a substitute.—Adv.

Wealth Goes Begging

NOT the least of the puzzling questions which have confronted the Roosevelt administration since the closing months of 1933 is the problem of getting capital to work. Beginning then, and continuing in mounting volume, deposits in thousands of banks in this country have increased. In many sections, for example, in Lincoln, they are at the highest point, not even excluding the boom era. In direct contrast are the figures reflecting bank loans.

Borrowing, due to two factors, has been at the lowest level. First, the bankers were under strict supervision and regulation in accepting collateral behind loans. Second, the lack of business activity, reflected in the volume of trade, did not justify any great expansion calling for extensive credits.

The order, then, issued out of Washington by the federal reserve board and the comptroller of the currency instructing banking institutions not to pay in excess of 2½ per cent interest on time and savings deposits, arouses an interesting speculation. Its purpose, clearly, is to discourage piling up idle money in banks and forcing it to seek fields where it will have a greater return. The assumption is that by driving it into business and industrial channels, trade will be quickened and stimulated, ultimately providing greater employment for the idle legions who have been on relief. That has been the grave concern of the president for over a year. He has pleaded with business to bend its energies in taking up the slack of unemployment. While the critics were carping against governmental expenditures, he was pointing out that starvation and misery could not be tolerated in America, and the quickest and most certain method of terminating these extraordinary emergency programs was through the increasing activity of private enterprise.

And here were the facts. The banks were bulging with money. It went begging while men were idle, while millions faced stern realities. There has been no overproduction in the United States for five years. There has been underproduction by the measure of actual needs and requirements. There has been a shrieking shortage in both necessities, such as food, clothing, and fuel, and in conveniences and luxuries. Those that had the means would not spend. Those who were destitute could not buy. That has been the paradox, emphasized more and more as the aggregate of bank deposits mounted and mounted to new high levels. A rich nation was a poor nation. A country in which the banking institutions held untold treasures was confronted with the greatest problem of unemployment in all of its history.

NOW the simple desire or plea for expansion of business and for a loosening of credit is not going to make it come true. The state of mind enters into it more than any other single factor. Periodically in this country these strange circumstances, described in the most recent experience as an economic depression, and earlier as a financial crisis, have swept America. They have come and they have gone, and out of them the country itself has risen to new heights. They have been characterized by apprehension and uncertainty, following on the heels of recklessness and vicious abuse of every sound principle of business.

There are certain definite signs the clouds are lifting. It does not mean that literally millions of people are not in grave difficulty yet, because they are. It does not mean there are not unpaid debts, sacrificed homes, and lost savings, because there are. But it does mean, for example, here at this Christmas season the volume of trade is better than it has been in some time, and when the final figures are available, a most encouraging gain will be shown. It does mean that the state of popular mind is much improved—the old alarm, the shuddering fears, are gone—and people are thinking and acting in a much more normal fashion. It does mean that they are looking forward hopefully and expectantly, instead of shaking their heads dolefully and resigning themselves to the belief that there wasn't the wisdom, the courage, and the resources to pull ourselves together once again and to move forward. It does mean that commodity price levels, both for the products of agriculture and manufacturing, have improved sufficiently to guarantee that in the normal course of trade, there will be profit resulting from these labors.

For that, the president justly can take credit. It has been his bold leadership, his heartening sympathies, and his magnificent courage which have restored the morale of the American people. More than the specific mechanism of his program in this revival has been the spirit of the man himself, a spirit which restored faith and confidence in government so far as its social aims are concerned.

WE LOOK ahead optimistically out of the shadows of trial and tribulation.

There is the wealth in this country, the resources of manhood and womanhood endowed with character, industry, and intelligence, to win. There are the resources bestowed without stint by nature. Slowly the upward march has been gaining momentum, and that is the safe and the secure way. These ravages of the last five years, the collapse of planning for the future, the suspension of the normal buying for the millions of homes, have created a great market which will be served some day. The visible wealth, told by the deposits in banks, some day will put itself to work, building homes, renovating homes, refurnishing homes, setting factory wheels to spinning, and bringing cheer to the farmside which faces the responsibility of furnishing food and clothing for millions of people.

In putting wealth to work, in encouraging it to seek a higher earning, there is this reservation. The investment must be sound. The great stock market debacle of the '20s arose largely through speculation, where men put up their margins and dabbled in securties, hoping to pocket a day's, a month's, or a year's winnings without any substantial foundation for the mythical values pumped into securities by an unprecedented scramble to buy and to sell them.

The task in this country is the rehabilitation of the home and of business and industry, based upon the sound principles of a nation which believes in high standards of living, and which has both the people and the resources to support them.

Boris's Elephants.

MUCH is lacking in the dispatch from Sofia which told of the death of one of the two elephants owned by King Boris of Bulgaria, which he had offered for sale to an American circus. The animal died of rheumatism and old age.

Boris may be a good king, but he's a poor horse trader.

What real horse trader would have permitted an animal to die on him before he had passed it on to another owner. Elephants attain a great age, some of them living for 200 years. Ordinarily an elephant does not reach maturity before 90 years, providing, of course, he is able to avoid capture and premature death.

Public Enemies Dwindle.

ARTHUR B. REEVE gives a most convincing summary of the government's drive against crime. Three years ago, he points out, the list of public enemies numbered between sixty and seventy names. By last June, it had been reduced to a "desperate dozen," and in the last six months, the slate has been wiped practically clean.

One thousand five hundred years in penalties.
Two death sentences.
Sixteen life sentences.
Two murders by other gangsters.
Three suicides.
Two lynchings.

Virtually every member of the list apprehended, convicted, or under the sod.

That grim warning should be sufficient to deter the young man temporarily hypnotized by the prospect of big and easy money.

Attitude of Japan.

JAPAN has a war party and it is an active one. As a matter of fact it just about runs things in that country, and it apparently has the backing of a good majority of the people. This party sees that the course it has been pursuing in the far east is certain in the course of time to result in a conflict with Russia and it means that Japan shall be ready for that war when it comes, let the cost be what it may.

So Japan has in effect told the rest of the world to mind its own business; that country intends to attend to its own affairs and build whatever sized navy it sees fit, which it will probably do. In the past it has gone ahead with the programs laid out on Nippon, regardless of the protests of the other powers, and has got by without a great deal of difficulty. It will doubtless do so in the future.

It will seem rather funny to the people of the United States, however, that while the Japanese feel at liberty to scrap that portion of a treaty which limits its naval power, it insists upon that portion of the Washington pact which limits Pacific fortification; which of course directly concerns this country. And its leading statesman cockily asserts that "if such clauses are terminated it is prepared to cope with such a situation."

Oh, well, let them cope! If Japan sees fit to construct a great offensive navy the United States will doubtless consider that it is justified in fortifying Guam, maintaining a naval station in the Philippines and strengthening itself in Hawaii and on the coast. Likewise there may be maintained in Pacific waters fleets of airplanes for the destruction, if necessary, of troublesome warships, upon which the Nipponese seem determined to expend vast amounts of treasure.

In their desire for the acquisition of territory the Japanese wittingly make themselves offensive to the rest of the world, knowing that no one wants to fight; but the time may come when the little fellows will go too far. In fact that time is almost certain to come in the case of Russia. The fellow who eternally goes about with a chip on his shoulder will eventually find someone to knock it off.

Where Everybody Loses.

IT WILL not be a very cheerful Christmas this year for 670 wage-earners employed in a woolen mill at Southbridge, Mass., notwithstanding that they are to get a week's pay from the management as a holiday gift. For they have been given notice that they need not return to their jobs next week, because there won't be any jobs to fill. The company is quitting business.

And why? Because there was no sale for its output? Not at all. Because the owners had got tired of operating the plant and wished to withdraw from active business? Far from it.

As the facts appear in a press dispatch, the plant had been subjected to harassment of three successive strikes during the past several months. Just what occasioned them is not clearly indicated; but whatever it was a majority of the employes apparently felt they had no serious grievance, as two-thirds of the workers in the mill stayed at their jobs while the ruction was going on.

If this strike was like a good many others which have been precipitated in industrial communities, it probably was worked up by outside agitators representing "rule or ruin" elements. There have been numberless instances where such troublemakers have horned into local situations where harmonious relations existed between employers and their workers.

News reports have told of numerous labor disturbances where violence was used not only to inflict serious damage on factory buildings and equipment, but also by assaulting employes who sought to stay on their jobs. No consideratoin was shown to men who believed it their duty to their families to remain at work. If they could not be persuaded to quit, stronger tactics were used; sometimes lives were sacrificed by the ruthless methods of strike leaders. Of course, too, there were cases where armed guards hired to protect mills and factories resorted to brutality in their treatment of strikers. There has been no monopoly of rough treatment on either side.

QUESTION.

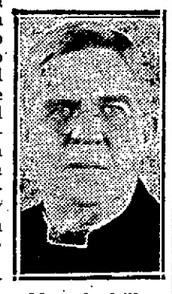

West Palm Beach, Fla.

Due to this long depression, my income has diminished a good deal, and now I have to consder finding room for my wife's mother. I fear the result of this, for the old lady (not so old really) is temperamental and has always asked life for the best things. She has the opportunity of sharing a small apartment with a woman friend of the same age, but insists on coming with us.

Should I take her in?

ANSWER.

If she has a chance of securing a suitable home elsewhere, it will be better for you to reserve your own for yourself and wife. It usually requires a larger roof than any yet built to shelter two families, and you will be wise to avoid such double accommodation even though some other arrangement may involve you in additional expense. The mother-in-law question is as old as the hills, and its evils have been grossly exaggerated. Nevertheless, it has evils, and under wrong conditions it tends to divide a household.

Of course, your wife's wishes must be consulted. If she strongly desires her mother to live with you, some risk of discord follows. But presuming, as I do, that she is a sensible woman of considerable experience in married life, she is likely to understand her mother's temperament and to foresee the unhappiness she may create if she becomes a permanent member of your household. Your hearth is your citadel and palace, and its privacy and peace fortify you as nothing else can against the turmoil and tyranny of the outside world. You ought to pass from tumult to peace every time you cross your threshold. If comfort and strength are waiting there they will not be found elsewhere.

While your mother-in-law has no right to demand a place in your home, she does have the right to expect you and your wife will do whatever is reasonable to comfort her declining years. And you should not forget the sacred tie which binds her to you and your wife. But in order that you may best fulfill its obligations, provide her with a suitable shelter, visit her as frequently as may be desirable, show her life's bright side, thus offsetting her melancholy tendencies, and overlook her rather childish selifishness, for by so doing you shall find rest for your own souls.

Psychologists explain her behavior as due to a form of jealousy. Possibly it is. But whatever may be its source, your course is clear, and if you pursue it you will conduce to her happiness and your own.

ACUTE TONSILITIS APT TO OCCUR IN WINTER

Although it may occur during any season of the year, like all infections of the respiratory tract, acute tonsilitis is more likely to occur in the winter time and during inclement weather.

Dr. Clendening

Anyone who ever has had it will tell you that it is quite a disease. There is not much to be seen in the throat except that the tonsils are swollen and red, and that there are little pockets of pus scattered through them. But this apparently slight invasion is calculated to make a person feel about as miserable as anything known.

I am sure that most people with tonsilitis feel worse than those with a severe case of diphtheria. In fact, one of the dangers of diphtheria is that the patient does not feel very bad constitutionally; there is a little sore throat and a mild amount of malaise the first few days, and all too frequently these are allowed to pass on as being of no consequence, and the precious time is lost when antitoxin treatment could do the most good.

But bad as acute tonsilitis is, some of its consequences may be even more serious. One immediate sequel is quinsy. Quinsy is known as "retropharyngeal abscesses," and is the extension of the tonsilar infection into the tissues of the soft palate at the back of the throat. An abscess is formed. The discomfort from this mass in the back of the throat, which usually interferes quite considerably with breathing, is almost the limit of human endurance.

There is no way to perdict whether or not acute tonsilitis will develop into quinsy and no way for the attending physician to prevent it. Many families blame the doctor when this accident occurs, but this is entirely unjust, as it happens with the best care. The only way to prevent it is, after an acute attack of tonsilitis without it, is to have the tonsils out.

Following one of the fundamental surgical rules not to operate in the presence of acute infection, or not to handle acutely infected tissues, removal of tonsils during the acute stages of tonsilitis is universally condemned, but after the infection has calmed down, they certainly should be removed.

An attack of acute tonsilitis is a certain indication for removal of the tonsils. After the attack the tonsils may harbor germs which send out their toxins through the body, producing infection of the joints, of the bones, infection in the eye, the kidneys and heart muscle, and skin rashes. Such being the case, it seems only sensible to remove such a potential source of danger.

QUESTION.

"Will you kindly advise, through your column, if it is possible for a dentist to tell if a woman is going to have a child?"

ANSWER.

The teeth of the prospective mother are likely to become decayed, but I do not believe that many dentists would be willing to stake their reputations on their ability to make a diagnosis in this way.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

QUESTIONING.

I wonder if this life can ever be Richer with joys than those we now possess?
If men who long shall follow yon and me
Shall add one mite to human happiness?

Is life withholding something from us all,
Something of joy which other men shall gain
And once released shall make this earthly ball
Another Eden free from care and pain?

Or has life shown us all it has to give?
And has man's blundering strewn the world with woe?
Have we so filled with strife the days we live
That we've no time life's ample joys to know?

I think this life itself will never change.
What may occur sometime, and soon I pray.
Is that the minds of men will rearrange
Their muddled standards of a well spent day.

They may discover just how vain a thing
Is that false pride for which they madly sigh,
Then we may less they'll find the time to sing
With happier hearts the joy of being alive.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 18.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your editorial of the 17th exposes fallacies of the sales tax. That the sales tax works to the detriment of business must become evident or the privileged class who take in the cream of ground rent, will see to it that the sales tax is enacted. Sales tax is an absolute detriment to all business. Put on a local sales tax and large business will find its way to other places where there is no sales tax and this is likewise true of a state sales tax, driving trade into neighboring states to escape the tax.

When a sales tax exemption is attempted, favoring outside customers, what a muddle this makes and loop hole for evading the tax, besides much injustice. Like the bear who has spent his life confined to the narrow limits of a cage, the cage removed, he still paces the same space. So we, although the natural source for public funds has been shown us, still follow devious methods of obtaining public funds. Ground rent value is the result of the active presence of the community (nothing else), therefore this value inherently belongs to the public. Why continue to permit the mere title holder of lots to take the community created cream? All taxes now being collected should be abolished, all property tax measures abandoned and the unearned increment of ground rent value taken for public funds; then and not until then can we call ourselves free men. Remember this, under the present system, we are paying the ground rent value and all other taxes—a double burden. Here is the cause of all our economic trouble.

Faith in Religion.

Huntley, Neb., Dec. 20.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I learn from your column that some people are interested in religion and some are not. There are several opinions in regard to it. For example the historians show that the apostles thought and spoke differently on many biblical subjects.

James said: "Ye know that a murderer has not everlasting life abiding in him." If this last be true then the murderer has not been redeemed by Christ.

If you are lacking in faith, how can you believe in the Bible and its teachings?

Remember that Daniel went unharmed in the lion's den and the three men went through the fiery furnace without being scorched. They had faith in God.

Obeying the law isn't enough. There was no law on the books to forbid what Judas did.

The horse proves better, after all. A family isn't denied relief because it owns an old rattletrap horse.

The fellow who threatens revolution has always been that way. As an infant he threatened to hold his breath if somebody didn't give him something.

The chief fault of a republic is that you don't know who to get mad at when your affairs go sour.

Still, if a mean cop hunting a bandit should pick up and fingerprint Santa Claus, that would be a criminal record.

He probably isn't a real celebrity if he never has felt the urge to kill the photographer.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Reddy's Vain Search

If freed of competition's strife
What little spice would be in life.
—Reddy Fox.

When the corn had stood in shocks in Farmer Brown's cornfield Reddy Fox, in common with some others, had found good hunting there, splendid hunting. You see the Mice from far and wide had moved over there to make their homes in those shocks, where there was plenty to eat. And where there are many people many are sure to be careless. So Reddy and others had had good hunting until those shocks had been torn apart to harvest and carry away the corn. This had sent the Mice living there scurrying back to the Green Meadows, where they had scattered far and wide seeking new homes. This meant harder hunting, much harder hunting, for Reddy and the others.

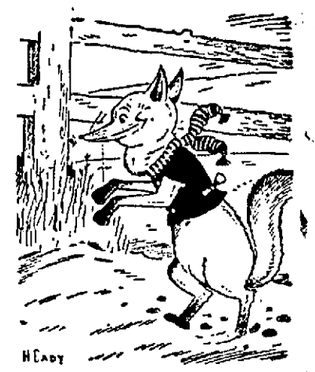

Reddy still visited the cornfield from time to time, especially the fence-rows where tall dead grasses and weeds still stood above the snow, for he knew that Meadow Mice love such surroundings. So it was that after the snow had buried the Green Meadows and the cornfield Reddy, on one of his visits, found certain dainty little tracks leading from one weedtop to another. Very dainty little footprints they were. Reddy grinned when he saw them.

"So there are some Mice left here after all," said he to himself. "Whoever made these tracks has been getting seeds from these weed-tops and is somewhere down below. I'll just follow these tracks and see where they lead to."

Pretty soon the tracks that he was following were joined by other little footprints just as dainty. Once more Reddy grinned. "A pair of Mice," said he to himself. "With two of them about I ought to be able to catch at least one, especially if I can find out just where they are living. Hello! What's this?"

He had come to the hole in the snow that led down to the hole into the tunnel of Miner the Mole. There were dainty little tracks leading into it and out of it. "Ha!" exclaimed Reddy. "Their home is right down below here somewhere. It shouldn't be difficult to find."

He sniffed all about to make sure that the freshest scent in those footprints led into the hole, not away from it. Satisfied on this score, he began to dig. How he made the snow fly! It was easy digging through the snow and those fast-moving black paws of his soon uncovered the mound in which was the hole leading down into the tunnel of Miner the Mole.

"So there are some mice left here, after all," said he to himself

"Huh!" exclaimed Reddy in disgust when he saw this. "So that is how it is! There is no knowing which way or how far they have gone in that tunnel, and there is no digging into it to find out, for the earth is frozen hard. Of course, they may be living in there somewhere, but I doubt it. This tunnel wasn't here the last time I came this way, which was just before the cold weather. He must have dug it just after that and this means he he may still use it occasionally. So I don't believe those Mice have made their home in it. They probably have another entrance to it not far away, and a nest on the ground under the grass somewhere near that."

So Reddy tried digging down in another place to see if he could find any little tunnel in the snow. In fact, he dug down in several places, but in vain. Then he sat down and, with his head cocked to one side, studied the situation. "Those Mice have a home not far away. Of that there is no doubt," said he to himself. "But so long as this snow holds I may as well give up all thought of finding it. Once let the snow melt I can follow Miner's tunnel and find out where they have another opening in it. Until then all I can do is to watch this hole on the chance that they will come out after more seeds."

So Reddy flattened himself in the snow a short jump away from that hole and waited and watched. It was all in vain.

Sir Charles Seeks Cross U. S. Record

UNION AIR TERMINAL, BURBANK, Calif., Dec. 21 — (AP) — Charles Kingsford Smith, Australian trans-Pacific flier, left the Union air treminal at 4:48 a. m. today in what he announced would be an attempt to establish a new transcontinental speed record for planes.

Although the aviator had announced last night he planned to fly to Cincinnati, O., he disclosed shortly before taking off that if he makes good time as far as Kansas City, his one planned refueling stop, he will continue on to New York City without stopping at Ohio City.

Flying with Sir Charles was Harry Walker, San Dimas rancher and a friend of long standing.

The present west-to-east transcontinental record is 10 hours, 2 minutes, 51 seconds, held by Col. Roscoe Turner, noted flier.

Registered Letters Arriving Here Have Marks of Air Tragedy

Two registered airmail letters reached Lincoln Friday morning bearing the marks of what local postal officials believe to have been some sort of an air tragedy. The letters were burned crisp around the edges.

One was addressed to the Lincoln Tobacco company and one to the University Publishing company. Both came from New York and bore the stamp "delayed in transit at Buffalo, N. Y."

James Hart Fined on No-Fund Check Charge

Found guilty of issuing two no-fund checks, James P. Hart was fined $100 and costs on each count, Friday morning in Municipal court. He gave notice of appeal and bond was set at $500.

Both checks were drawn last September on the Citizens' State bank of Lincoln and made payable to G. Walvoord.

Hart waived preliminary hearing on two felony charges involving two no-fund checks made payable to Dickson and Steeves and was bound over to the present term of District court under $1,000 bond. One check was drawn for $72, the other for $41.60.

Firemen Strive to Save Infant With Breathing Device

SEATTLE, Dec. 21 —(AP)—Five Seattle firemen still were at work with artificial breathing equipment today in an effort to save the life of an infant baby girl.

Under the direction of Lieut. Gordon McCall, they have been at work since noon Wednesday, the day the tiny child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glaser was born.

Physicians said a throat or lung ailment prevented the child from breathing properly.

The firemen operate the equipment in two-hour shifts.

Canal Right of Way Obtained With Ease, Harold Kramer States

Harold Gramer, secretary of the Columbus public power district, was in Lincoln Friday negotiating with several owners of real estate along the route of the Genoa canal for acquisition of right of way.

Kramer said the district is encountering little or no difficulty in obtaining the necessary right of way at a reasonable cost.

The district will receive bids January 4 for construction of two siphons, one to carry the canal under Looking Glass creek and the other under Beaver creek, and also drop structures to return canal flow to the Loup river, at a total estimated cost of about $250,000. Bids will be taken three days later on generators and turbines for the power plant to cost an estimated half-million dollars.

Decline of 86,000 in Industrial Payrolls

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—A decline of 86,000 workers on industial payrolls from October to November was reported today by Secretary Perkins.

She said payrolls fell off $3,915,000.

Miss Perkins said she found the report "very satisfactory" however, in view of an increase in non-manufacturing employment and what she termed the lightness of the general fall off. November ordinarily shows a decline, she said.

She reported a 9 per cent increase in employment in manufacture of agricultural implements.

Rev. Smith Says World Evading Its Troubles

The "philosophy of evasion," instead of facing the crisis, is the world's trouble today, Rev. Leslie R. Smith of Tabernacle Christian church told members of the Kiwanis club Friday noon at the chamber of commerce.

To solve the modern problems, he said, "We must accept current measures as only temporary and then build up the type of spiritual life that will prevent such depressive conditions again."

Christmas carols were sung by the 40 voice girls glee club of Lincoln high school, directed by Miss Helen M. Stowell. Accompanists were Marjorie Smith, violin; Ruth Hill, harp, and Victor Molzer, piano.

Urges Capitol Flagpole.

Assistant Custodian Johnson of the capitol has a plan to improve on the present custom of flying separate flags on top of the building over the state senate and house chambers when the legislative bodies are in session and on patriotic holidays. He thinks a permanent flagpole should be erected somewhere on the grounds and used for display of the national colors.

As a setting for the pole, Mr. Johnson would surround it with a group of memorial statues to the soldiers of different wars in American history. His ideas will be presented to Governor-elect Cochran, who will take over the duties of the state capitol commission when it goes out of existence January 1.

STILL PROTEST ALFALFA ORDER

Nebraska Growers Fear Weevil Infestation From West.

KEARNEY, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—Platte valley afalfa growers Friday continued to voice protests against Governor Bryan's action in lifting an embargo on alfalfa shipments from points in Idaho and Oregon. They met here Friday. The Kearney chamber of commerce reported it had received a message from S. A. Rohwer of the bureau of entomology which said: "All counties enumerated were found infested in the past. No evidence available that they are not now infested."

The counties referred to are Boise, Canyon, Gem, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Payette, Twin Falls and Washington in Idaho and Baker and Malheur counties in Oregon.

Bryan before lifting the embargo to permit Nebraskans to buy alfalfa from the two states said he was convinced there was no danger of spread of the alfalfa weevil to Nebraska.

Says Fears Groundless.

Relative to fears expressed by alfalfa growers and handlers at Kearney and elsewhere that baled alfalfa brought into Nebraska from Idaho might infect the state with weevil and damage future crops grown here, Governor Bryan said Friday that no such danger need be feared.

A thorough investigation of the Idaho area whence the hay comes was made by Nebraska representatives before the order raising the embargo was issued, Bryan declared, and no weevil pest found to exist there during several years past. Every shipment from that state, he pointed out, must be accompanied by a certificate showing that there is no infestation.

FULL RESTORATION URGED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—A bill to restore full government pay January 1 was proposed today by the American Federation of Labor wage restoration committee. Government pay was cut 15 per cent soon after the Roosevelt administration came into power. Two-thirds of the cut was restored several months ago. President Roosevelt indicated the other third would be given back next July 1.

They're Delicate And Nice--Olives And Celery On A Bed Of Ice

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench has been acquitted of the murder of John Osborne, has almost been murdered himself, and has joined forces with a perfectly strange girl named Molly O'Brien, all within 18 hours. For it develops that Osborne had stolen a formula worth millions, and that it belongs to Molly, and that the men who set upon Nicholas also want to find the formula. Now Nicholas' friend, Jerry Mordaunt, has arrived and been presented to Molly.

Chapter 15.

NICK'S STORY.

With that delightful half grave, half mischievous smile of hers, Molly rose from her chair, "I am glad to meet you," she said simply. "I know you must be very nice or Nick wouldn't be so fond of you."

Jerry achieved a highly creditable bow, and then straightening himself, looked at her admiringly.

"You'll forgive my being a bit dazed," he remarked, "but you see I wasn't exactly expecting a party."

"Molly's not a party," I explained; "she's more in the nature of an accident." I pulled up a chair. "Sit down, Jerry," I added. "You're going to listen to the most amazing yarn you've ever heard, but that's no reason why you shouldn't be comfortable."

"The difficulty," I added, looking from one to the other of them, "is that I'm hanged if I know where to begin.

"I want to hear as much as I can." Jerry thrust his hands into his pockets and stretched out his long legs. "At present all I know is what I saw in the papers last night and this morning. I've read the judge's summing up, but outside of that I'm absolutely in the dark about the whole business. You start right at the beginning and tell me everything."

I reflected for a moment. "The beginning." I said, "was when I ran into Osborne in Villiers Street. It was late one night, about a week after you'd gone away, and I'd been dining with a pal of mine at the Savage Club. On my way to Charing Cross, I saw a chap standing under a lamp-post lighting a cigaret. I thought his face was familiar and when I got up close I recognized him at once. Except for looking a little older he hadn't altered in the least. You remember what he was like—a tall thin bird with a tight mouth and very black eyes."

Jerry nodded. "I remember him perfectly. Bit of a dab in the stinks line, wasn't he—always messing about with test-tubes and Bensen burners?"

"That's the man," I said. "We were never particular pals, but I used to play him at golf sometimes, and you know how it is when you come across anyone you were in school with. Of course I stopped to have a chat, and in the end we went along together by the same train as far as Tottenham Court Road.

"He didn't talk much about himself. Said he'd been out in the States for some years and was back here on a holiday. He asked me if I kept up with any of the old crowd, and I told him I saw a good deal of you and that we did a bit of sailing together in the summer.

"When we said good-bye, I gave him my address and invited him to look me up. I heard nothing more of him for three or four days; then one afternoon he sent me a note from some house in Holland Park asking me if I'd come round and see him that evening.

"I wasn't keen about it, but having nothing special to do I thought I might as well go. Well, after I'd had some grub I walked across the Park as far as Portland Road. It came on to rain then, so I took a taxi. I must have got to his place just about nine o'clock. It was a small house with a front garden to it, and when I rang the bell he opened the door himself. I could see at once that he was as jumpy as a cat."

"How do you mean?" asked Jerry.

"All on edge," I explained, "keeping himself in—like a man who's frightened and doesn't want to show it. He took me along to his study and gave me a drink, and for some time we sat there talking about old days, and the fellows we used to know and all that kind of thing.

"Then at last he came to the point. He told me that he was anxious to buy a boat, and as I knew a little about sailing, he thought that perhaps I wouldn't mind giving him my help and advoice. Of course, the first question I asked him was what kind of a boat he was looking for.

"He said he wanted one in which it would be safe to cross the Channel, and one which, at the same time, two men could handle more or less comfortably. Something about twelve or fourteen tons, with an auxiliary engine. Now, as it happened, I knew that there was a yawl of exactly that type for sale at Brightlingsea. The price was three hundred and fifty, and for a man who could afford it she was well worth the money.

"I gave him th e particulars, and then he asked me as a great favor whether I'd go down there myself, fix the thing up straight away, and find him a paid hand who would sign on for a trip to the other side.

"It struck me as an odd sort of request to make and I began to wonder whether he'd been doing something fishy, and wanted to sneak off out of the country. However, that wasn't exactly my business. After all there's nothing illegal in buying a yacht for a man, and he seemed to be in such a state of nerves and so desperately anxious for me to say yes, that in the end, like a fool, I agreed to act for him.

"He lugged out five hundred pounds there and then. Of course, I didn't want the responsibility of carting about all that money, but he absolutely insisted on my taking it. He said that I should be able to put the deal through much quicker if I paid in cash, and that after I'd deducted my own expense I could send him back the rest.

"Well, that was that, so to speak. I came back here, and next morning I took the first train down to Bringhtlingsea. The owner of the yawl was a very decent fellow; he let me examine her thoroughly and I could see that she was in first-class condition. I made him an offer of three hundred, and after a bit of arguing we closed the deal at three twenty-five.

"I'd just got out the money to pay him—we were in the local pub at the time splitting a half-bottle—when the door opened and the police walked in and arrested me. I was so staggered I never even drank my fizz."

"It must have been a bit of a shock," said Jerry. "Still there's no excuse for such carelessness as that." He began rummaging in his side pocket for a pipe.

"How had they got on to you so quick?"

"It all came out at the trial," I explained. "They'd found my name and address on Osborne's blotting pad; that note he'd sent me must have been the last thing he'd written, and then the taxi man who'd picked me up came forward at once and identified me by my photograph.

"Of course, they'd no real evidence against me up till then; what did the trick were those infernal notes. Osborne had drawn them out of the bank that morning, and there I was with the whole packet actually in my hand."

"But hang it all, you'd a perfectly good explanation!"

"It didn't seem to cut any ice with the magistrate or the coroner's jury," I observed bitterly. "Old Cresswell did his best but he couldn't even get me out on bail. I was flung into a dungeon cell for three weeks, and then hauled out last Monday and charged with being a bloody-minded assassin."

Jerry began to laugh. "Sorry to appear unsympathetic, but somehow or other the whole thing seems so deucedly funny. Why, one's only got to look at you to see that you're the most good-natured chump in Europe."

"Thank you, Jerry," I said. "Unfortunately the British law isn't run on those sound psychological lines. As a matter of fact, they put up quite a good case against me. Suggested that my story was all bunk—that I'd had a row with Osborne, bashed him on the head and then pinched the money out of his safe. I tell you, it was touch and go at one time. If Barrett hadn't made such a corking fine speech I believe the idiots would have hanged me."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—BY JOHN HIX

The Aztecs fought with wooden swords so that they would not kill their enemies—but it was no humanitarian impulse that prompted them to spare the lives of their opponents. They wanted to take them alive so they could be offered as human sacrifice to the Aztec war-god, Huitzilopochtli.

While the Aztecs were warring with their neighboring tribes they found it not difficult to wage successful battles with wooden swords. The fewer of the enemy they killed in battle the more they were likely to take captive—the more captives the greater the sacrifice—and the greater the sacrifice the greater the pleasure of their blood-loving god.

Against the Spanish, however, the primitive warriors of Mexico fought at odds they never dreamed could exist. Unlike their other enemies, the Spanish were quite willing to kill the Aztecs on the field of battle—they having no gods to sacrifice captive Aztecs to after the battle.

Strange as it seems, hair can be grown on the crystal of a watch—and, presumably, on a billiard ball as well. The watch glass hair was grown by an experimenter in England for the Wool Industries Research association. During the experiment bits of guinea pig skin were attached to the glass, and then fed with blood plasma in special preparation. The skin remained alive, and the hair actually grew.

Sooners In Quest New Grid Mentor

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 21—(AP)—Fate of the University of Oklahoma football coaches hung in the balance at a meeting of football lettermen and school officials here today.

The meeting is the culmination of an attempt to remove Lewie Hardage and Bo Rowland as coaches. At a recent meeting of the council, some members expressed themselves against renewing the contract for the two, but no vote was taken. Since that time several members of the football squad have said they are in favor of keeping the two coaches. It was to determine the extent of this sentiment that today's meeting was called, athletic council members said.

Captain Jones Mentioned.

Mentioned prominently among the possible successors are Captain "Biff" Jones, who resigned recently from Louisiana State university, and Lynn Waldorf, Kansas State coach.

Dr. Guy Y. Williams, chairman of the athletic council, has been attempting to get in touch with Jones, but whether he has done so or has made Jones an offer could not be learned. The university has a unit of the R. O. T. C., to which Jones, an army officer, could be transferred.

Likewise, it could not be learned whether the committee has made an offer to Waldorf.

What is freedom of the press? Well, a man has a right to say with type whatever he has a right to say with his mouth.

SUE WALLERS FOR INTEREST

$5,827 Claimed Due to Bondholders Covering Delayed Payment.

Suit for $5,827 has been filed in district court by The First Trust company as successor trustee against the Waller Sign company. The trust company, as trustee for the Lincoln Safe Deposit company, brings the suit on behalf of fifty bondholders.

The litigation arises primarily out of a transaction which occurred Oct. 21, 1931 when the sign company borrowed $95,000 from the deposit company giving in return 174 negotiable bonds worth $95,000 and secured by a contract between the Skelly Oil company and the sign company.

A number of the bonds were retired by Dec. 1, 1932 but on Dec. 2, 1932 the sign company brought suit against the trust company claiming that the Lincoln Safe Deposit company, in making the loans, charged various interest rates. During this litigation—which lasted a year and a half—some $60,000 in income from the Skelly contracts was tied up with the bondholders receiving no interest or principal payments. The Waller sign company lost its usury suit and it is over the interest on payments necessarily withheld from bondholders during the litigation that the trust company is suing. The action was filed by the firm of Stewart, Stewart and Whitworth.

A SMART COAT FROCK FOR SCHOOL OR SUNDAYS

PATTERN 2094

BY ANNE ADAMS

Polly, here, feels as though the world were particularly bright these days! For her mother has just made her this adorable coat-frock smart enough to send any little girl's spirits soaring sky high even without those square patch pockets which make her strike such a swagger pose. It has comfortably full sleeves that end in neat little cuffs—or if you prefer short sleeves for your little girl, the pattern indicates just how to make them. The belt ties in a perky little bow at the back and the cunning Peter-Pan collar is "just right" for schoolgirl flattery. And to add a gay touch tie a bright bow at the throat, as in the small sketch to the right.

Pattern 2094 is available in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10 takes 3 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Send for your copy of the ANNE ADAMS WINTER FASHION BOOK! Crowded with exclusive patterns for the child, the young girl and the matron. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS BUT WHEN ORDERED WITH AN ANNE ADAMS PATTERN IT IS ONLY TEN CENTS. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR BOTH.

Police Auxiliary Will Hold Christmas Party

Annual Entertainment To Be Held In Shooting Gallery Of Department Tonight.

Treats for the youngsters, games and a short program will be included in the evening's entertainment at the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Lincoln Police auxiliary, Friday evening at the municipal building.

Committee members Friday morning decorated the police shooting gallery for the party. Ted Wolfenbarger will appear as Santa to pass out Christmas treats and Mrs. Joe Marsh of the FERA recreation bureau will be in charge of the games. A reading will be given by Gertrude McArthur and Joan Getaz will play several accordian numbers.

Plans for the party were worked out under the direction of Mrs. Corbett Krumtum, president of the auxiliary. Members of the refreshment committee are: Mrs. Edith Rickard, Mrs. Everett Rudisil, Mrs. Guy Dean, Mrs. George Meyer. Mrs. Joe Harbaugh and Mrs. Henry Prosser. The reception, decoration and program committee includes Mrs. Fenton B. Fleming. Mrs. Frank Robbins, Mrs. William Maunier and Mrs. Dick Bennett.

TWO YOUTHS ARE HELD IN DEATH OF YOUNG INDIAN

WEWOKA, Okla., Dec. 21—(AP)—Frank Coker, 22-year-old Indian youth of near Seminole, was killed here early today and Dan Brew, 17, son of a prominent Wewoka attorney, and Dave Walker, another Indian youth, were being held in the county jail for questioning.

The boys told officials that Drew, Walker and Coker had driven southwest of Wewoka to take Harry Coker, a cousin of the dead youth, to his home. On the return trip, Drew and Walker said Coker hit Drew in the head with a crank, asserting he intended to take the car.

The car was halted and in an ensuing scuffle, Drew said he knocked Coker down on the highway and that an approaching car struck Coker.

SEEK TO END SUGAR CORNER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—Appointment of a special committee to end the technical corner in the December raw sugar contract was proposed today by the board of managers of the New York coffee and sugar exchange. The committee will seek to effect settlements among the holders of long and short positions in the contract by deliveries of the sugar within the limits of the available supplies or liquidation by monetary settlements.

COL. H. G. HESTER DEAD.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 21—(AP)—Col. Henry G. Hester, "the Father of Cotton Statistics," is dead at the age of 88. For 61 years he was the secretary of the New Orleans cotton exchange. His death last night removed a man who probably knew more about cotton than any other man in the country. His cotton statistics were accepted by the United States government as authoritative.

CRANDALL DENIES CHARGE.

W. A. Crandall, Lincoln man charged under two counts with violating the internal revenue laws, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Federal court Friday afternoon.

The Three Little Pigs In Blankets Will Be Good for Holiday Breakfasts

ELKS READY FOR CHILDREN'S FETE

Party At the Coliseum Will Be "Finest in Years."

Lincoln Elks who will give their usual Santa Claus party for the worthy children of the city at the university coliseum Christmas morning, believe they have prepared the finest program for boys and girls that has been presented in the more than a quarter century since the system was inaugurated.

The doors of the coliseum will be opened at 8 o'clock and the entertainment will begin at 9, lasting an hour and a half. Assisting will be a 15-piece orchestra, and leaders for community singing, in addition to acts and skits for the children. At the end of the entertainment Santa Claus will appear and the treats will be distributed.

Judge P. James Cosgrave, chairman of the reception committee, and Claude P. Hensel, chairman of the distribution committee, assure parents that the little ones will be taken care of as well as they have been in the past. No accidents have ever occurred. To make certain that all will go well, the services of 30 members of the police and fire department have been obtained, and there will be hundreds of Elks on hand as usual. Small children may be accompanied by parents.

A pep rally is to be held at the club rooms Friday evening, when members will be finally instructed in what is expected of them, William Foster, general chairman, stated. The Christmas party for members will be held following the regular meeting this evening. A special program has been arranged.

Boy Scout Awards At Bancroft School

Eight were advanced to second class scouts, and three to first class. New first class scouts are Donald Weitzel, Eugene Irick and Joe Moore. New second class scouts are Harold Newburn, Albert Lindenburg, Ed Miller, Donald Bieber, Kenneth Braun, George Fox, jr., Harry Niederhaus and Warren Dietrich.

Clare Cushing was chairman of the court. Assisting were Henry Maser, John A. Carr, J. B. Mease and Frank M. Chase, field executive.

Cash in Circulation Shows Large Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—Santa Claus may have to get a bigger 'sleigh than last year, judging from figures of the federal reserve board.

Because of pre-Christmas buying, cash in circulation during the week ended December 19 was $26,000,000 more than the corresponding figure a year previous and $55,000,000 above the week ending December 12.

The total circulation was $5,587,000,000.

Wants $20,000 Mate.

Salil Wells, 20-year-old farm girl, will march to the altar with any man who will deposit $20,000 in a bank for her father, once wealthy but now the head of a destitute family. The young lady has specified blond or red-headed men are preferred. (AP Photo).

Party For Carriers.

A theater party for Lincoln Star carrier boys and their helpers will be given at 9:45 Saturday morning at the Capitol theater. The young folks will be the guests of Bob Livingston, theater manager, and The Star.

Bodies of Ceresco Men Being Returned

Asphyxiation Caused Deaths Of Nelson and Hagstrom, Coroner Reports.

SEDALIA, Mo., Dec. 21—(AP)—Coroner E. C. Snavely announced after a post mortem performed on the bodies of Oscar E. Nelson, Ceresco, Neb., and Oscar Hagstrom, Swedeburg, Neb., who were found dead in the cabin of a tourist camp here Thursday morning that the men came to their death by asphyxiation.

The bodies are being taken Friday to Ceresco where Joe Nelson will be in charge of funeral arrangements.

G. W. Rauch, operator of the camp, said the men registered there Wednesday night and that he left them after showing them how to light a gas heater in their cabin. The heater was burning when the bodies were found, and Snavely said he believed the men died several hours after it was lighted. Hagstrom and Nelson came to Sedalia to look at some farm properties.

Nelson is survived by his widow, Hilma; three daughters, Elda of Omaha and Dorine and Rosalie, both living at home, and two sons, Dennis and Leonard, also at home.

Surviving Hagstrom are his widow; a son, Kenneth, living at home, and four daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Odell of Weston, Margaret Hagstrom, teacher in a Saunders county school, Dorothy Hagstrom of Omaha and Mary Hagstrom at home.

The wicked are punished. If they pretend to be poor, in order to evade taxes, they lose all their friends.

FOUR HELD AS SUSPECTS IN KANSAS BANK HOLDUP

MOUND CITY, Kas., Dec. 21—(AP)—Four men suspected of participation in the robbery of the Linn County bank at La Cygne, Kas., late yesterday were held in the county jail here today. Officers said they recovered the $1,500 loot.

Three of the men, who gave their names as Harry White, William Carter and Jack Faubun, were arrested late last night at Pleasanton by two national guard officers. The fourth, Walter Emery, Kansas City, was arrested earlier near La Cygne by a posse member.

Sheriff Harry Hyle of Bourbon county said White admitted he was the driver of the bandit car.

69 Insane Oklahomans Are Ordered Sterilized

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 21—(AP)—Sterilization of 69 insane patients at the central state hospital at Norman was ordered after a hearing yesterday by the state board of affairs.

The number was the largest ordered for sterilization since the law was passed.

Forty-six of the patients were men, 23 women. The operations may be performed a month after the decree.

The sterilization law provides for the operation upon third term prisoners at the state penitentiary. The law affecting the prisoners stipulates the operation shall be performed when the prisoner is released. It is still under attack by the prisoners, who have raised a fund to fight the law.

Sugar And Spice And Everything Nice, That's What Fruitcakes Are Made Of Farm Women's Exchange

The Calendar Girls. The Poinsettia Quilt Block pattern, the Sea Elephants have been going fast. We have ordered enough of each of the patterns, however, to fill requests for same. Address Mrs. Clara Bell Graves, editor, The Lincoln Star Exchange, 905 North Fifth street, Springfield, Illinois.

An interesting letter came to us a few days ago and with it the request that we publish it. Here it is:

"We always have a very jolly Christmas with lots of happy greetings, a good dinner and little presents for everyone, no matter how hard the times may be or how short we may be of ready cash. Our family has grown until there is a houseful of us. All are farm people except ourselves and we have been until a few years ago and wish that we were again.

"I have been thinking that I wish you would emphasize, on your page, that a small gift which may be commonplace to the giver, may be pleasing to the receipient. We, who are in town, appreciate so much the gifts from the farm, such as butter, eggs, fruit, honey.

"The real purpose of this letter is to tell you about some of the very useful things that my own, dear mother has given for Christmas, everything from bed room slippers to rugs and quilts, blooming plants, stuffed dogs and cats for the children, dolls, scrap-books.

Broomstick Horse.

However, I think that one of the best things that my mother made was the little horse. A broomstick, painted red, forms the body, the head is very realistic cut from black plush, with ears, gold-button eyes and embroidered mouth. A bridle is fashioned from black leather-like material and the mane is some realistic looking fringe silk from some of the 1915 era dresses. The head is stuffed very full and hard and tacked to the painted broomstick with the head of the stick up inside of the head, strongly made so that little boy could not loosen it. Mother made six of them that year and every little boy that saw one, wanted one for himself. She exhausted her supply of broom sticks.

"I hope, in some way, that you may get across the idea that often little folks feel about things as my own son did after seeing the expensive toy belonging to another boy, 'Of course, Mother, it is very nice but really I like my horse better. You see my grandma made it.'"

Coloring Sugar.

This is the time of year when we like to use colored sugar on cookies and candies. It makes them glitter. Mrs. G. H. Way, 3224 O street, Lincoln, Neb., writes that we may color any amount of sugar desired by putting cake colorings into certain portions of granulated sugar. Let this dry for a few minutes, then it is ready to use on cookies or on whatever you want to sprinkle it.

The Christmas box pattern is free for a three cent, stamped, addressed envelope and a recipe or suggestion in exchange for same. One other pattern will carry.

Gift Making.

Miss Naomi Ward, a school teacher of Litchfield, Neb., writes: "My folks at school made gifts for their mothers during art period on Friday afternoons. One gift we liked very well was a scratcher pad. Take a piece of cardboard (cracker box or a similar box) about 8x11, cover with construction or pretty or plain paper. On one end, paste a Dutch girl which has been painted or colored. On the other end, place a scratch pad. Print between "It beats the Dutch, I forget so much." Grocery lists may be written on the pad as this gift hangs on the wall during the week and when the trip to town is made, tear off the sheet and your list is ready with nothing forgotten. Some were shellacked before pasting the pad in place."

Cranberry Muffins.

What is better for a Christmas morning breakfast? Now and then a reader will write for a recipe for these delicious muffins. Mrs. V. H. Renner of 422 West Twelfth street, Crete, Neb., sends us here recipe. Two and one-half cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons butter, one-half cup sugar, two eggs, well beaten, one cup each chopped, raw cranberries and sweet milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, cream butter and sugar, then add eggs. Add the cranberries to flour mixture and combine with creamed mixture, alternating with the milk. Beat only enough to blend and bake in muffin pans at 400 F., for twenty-five to thirty minutes.

The Forenign recipe sheets are ten cents in coin and a three cents, stamped, addressed envelope. Many of our readers are enjoying the bulletin because it contains many foreign recipes in which they are interested.

Sparkling Trees.

Just a hint for those who live in the cities and cannot get tumble weeds for sparkling Christmas trees. Why not try a Kochia Childsi or burning bush, instead Mrs. C. H. Gunthorp of DesPlaines, Ill., makes this suggestion.

Memo Pads.

These can be made from last year's Christmas cards. Paste memo pads at bottom of these bright cards and tie a ribbon to top. What a good idea by Mrs. Mary Stender of Mason City, Neb.

Children's Gifts.

"For the little children's Christmas, I save empty English walnut shells, fill them with small candles, paste them together and use them to help fill up the stocking," writes Mrs. E. L. Bye of Beaver Crossing, Neb.

As we approach another Christmas-tide, with wreaths in the windows, sparkling Christmas trees, glittering in their own mellow light, carollers on the air, tables and mantels decorated with holly and mistletoe, I hope this Christmas of 1935 will be a joyful one for all my readers and that I shall receive many letters telling me how one and all you carried out your Chistmas plans for a happy, memorable occasion.

IN THE MAIL

Pork Cake.

I am sending you a recipe for pork cake. Very few Christmases have gone by in the past forty-five years without this cake in our family. It will keep for months, if given the chance. I can remember helping take out the seeds from the raisins for grandmother's cake, long before seeded or seedless raisins were heard of. Raisins came in bunches then, stems and all. One pound fat, salt pork, one pint each, hot water, molasses and sugar, two pounds raisins, one pound currants, one tablespoon each nutmeg, allspice, cloves, two tablespoons each soda and cinnamon. Grind pork and pour over it the boiling water. Add molasses. When cool, add sugar and other ingredients with enough flour to make a real stiff dough. Bake slowly for two hours in a pan lined with oil paper. Citron may be added, also nuts, if desired.—MRS. F. R. STANLEY, Lincoln, Neb., R. R. 1, Box 17.

Boiled Fruit Cake.

One cup each sugar, raisins, one-half cup butter and lard combined, one and one-fourth cups water, pinch salt, two tablespoons chocolate or cocoa, one-half teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves. Boil for three minutes and cool. Add one teaspoon soda, dissolved in a little warm water, two cups flour, one cup broken nutmeats. Combine and bake.—MRS. CLARA RODGERS, Mankato, Kansas.

Simple Pudding.

One cup sugar, three cups milk, two eggs, one tablespoon vanilla, two tablespoons flour, one pound seeded dates, one cup nuts. Cook just as you would any pudding but just before you remove it from fire, add the dates and nuts. Cook just a few minutes. The dates give it a very pretty rich brown color, and pudding is very good servved with cream or whipped cream—MRS. GORDON, 1045 South Thirty-fourth street, Lincoln, Neb.

Pumpkin Cookies.

One cup each of cooked pumpkin and sugar, one-half cup shortening, two and one-fourth cups flour, four level teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon each nutmeg, ginger, cinnamon, allspice and one-half teaspoon each salt and vanilla, one-half cup nutmeats, one-half cup raisins. Scald raisins to soften, mix and drop from spoon in baking pan. Bake as you would any other cookies.—MRS. NELLIE B. WITT, 1226 High street, Lincoln, Neb.

Perfect Fudge.

This is my recipe for never-fail fudge. Use three cups sugar, level, one cup milk, one tablespoon butter. Put on to stove and bring to a boil. When boiling, stir in four tablespoons cocoa. Boil until it forms a soft ball in water. After it has formed a soft ball, take off of stove, and add one teaspoon vanilla, then beat until creamy, then pour into greased pans. This recipe can be made plain, if you choose, or you may add either one cup raisins or one cup nutmeats. But nuts or raisins must be added before beaten. I made this candy and sold it at a penny a square at campfire and candy sales.—OLIVE HOYT, Lincoln, Neb., R. R. 6, Box 36.

Coaches Scheme Slap Boycott On Huey Long

Leaders of Grid Game Plot Make It Tough On L. S. U. Dictator

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(INS)—Tacitly and by mutual understanding, the American Football Coaches association has declared a boycott against Louisiana State university and Mr. Huey Long, the one-man ensemble. At least, a check-up today reveals quite some few off-the-record expressions on the subject from members of the association, in and out of work, and besides we have the tangible evidence as provided by the frank statements of Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago university coach, and Bennie Bierman of Minnesota.

Swiftly Withdrew.

Shaughnessy and Bierman were publicly threatened by Senator Long, who announced in the papers, following the resignation of "Biff" Jones, that he planned to hire them. They thanked the senator for the warning and swiftly withdrew.

Dick Hanley, just recently unfrocked at Northwestern, also was mentioned by the senator, a fact that might ordinarily be expected to have a certain appeal to a man out of a job. But, in a few, well considered words, Hanley said he wanted to stay out.

They even got around to Chick Meehan, who may yet be replaced at little Manhattan college, which is tantamount to being kicked off the curb stone. Mr. Meehan hasn't received an offer, but his faith no longer is as stout as it was and he fears overconfidence.

Meehan Not Aspiring.

Anyhow, he wishes to announce that he does not want an offer. He's afraid he might lose all self-control and wind up with $10,000 a year, thereby losing a lot of money. It seems that with Mr. Long around, you use the first $9,000 for aspiring.

"Jobless Coaches Clutter Market," says one heading this morning.

"Biff" Tells His Story.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 21—(INS) — Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones admitted today it was the interference of Huey P. Long in affairs of the Louisiana State football team that caused him to resign as head coach.

The Louisiana Kingfish not only tried to help with the coaching of the team but tried to direct him on the strategy to be used in each game, oJnes said.

Several coaching offers have come to him since his resignation, he said, but he prefers to devote himself to his army duties henceforth.

"When I came out on the field just before the Oregon game, there was Senator Long sitting in my place on the players' bench," Capt. Jones stated.

Senator Horned In.

"Between halves, I was preparing for a blackboard talk with my players and coaches who had watched the game from the stands. The senator walked in and asked if he could talk to the players. I said I would prefer that he did not. He then said: 'Suppose I talk to them anyhow?'

"I said I would prefer that he did not. He pushed his way further in, and I pointed to the door. What we said to each other has been told. He went out of the door. I resigned and am out of a job.

Discussing his plans, Capt. Jones said that he expects "to be out of football for at least two years."

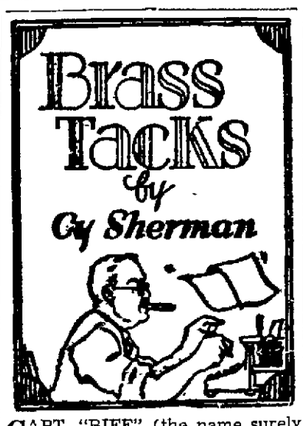

Bierman Not Available.

"I am trying to get an appointment from the war department to Leavenworth. That is the appointment I turned down last year to stay at Louisiana State. So if I succeed, I will be out of football for a while."

Jones, it was revealed, has received many congratulatory telegrams for his action in calling the Kingfish's bluff.

Bernie Bierman, coach of the Minnesota football team, sent word here that he would not consider the L. S. U. coaching job if it were offered him.

"I have received no communication from Huey Long," his wire said, "and will not consider going to Louisiana State."

CAPT. "BIFF" (the name surely was intended to have a deep meaning, only it didn't) Jones had his opportunity to establish himself as a national hero—and then permitted it to pass him by. Instead, as much as I have admired the captain in the past, I fear he will now take rating as a national disappointment.

The case of the captain—a graduate of West Point, foundry for our fighting men and future generals—is beyond understanding. After making the headlines by closing the door in the face of pestiferous Huey Long, barring the latter from the L. S. U. football squad's dressing room, it seems that the captain wilted.

Instead of making the job complete by kicking Louisiana's biggest nuisance on the pants and socking him on the kisser, thus to take his place in history alongside a distinguished namesake, John Paul Jones, the captain weakened in the pinch and did nothing more about it than resign his head coachship at the Baton Rouge institution.

MEANTIME, Huey, having gained his point by erasing the captain from the picture, is prattling away on the subject of choosing a successor.

New Orleans advices relate that Huey proposes to install Clark Shaughnessy in the captain's shoes, while President Smith of L. S. U. is reputed to favor Bernie Bierman. Maybe it's the other way around, but that doesn't matter.

Talk of that sort is idle chatter. Whomever the Louisiana pest wants—and can get — will land the coaching vacancy, and his man Friday, the prexy, will have to like it. The prexy—and most everybody else down in the swamp country—is taking orders from the Kingfish.

However, it is incredible that either Shaughnessy or Bierman would give even a moment's consideration to accepting a call from L. S. U. Both are in big-time football now, serving in Big Ten circles, and, in comparison with what they have, the job at Baton Rouge is only chicken-feed.

WALTER JUDGE, who scribbles on baseball topics for the Denver Post and then fools the boys a bit by writing Reddy Gallagher's fight column in the same family journal, tips me off that Milt Anfenger isn't seriously interested in the suggestion to place Denver on the circuit of the Nebraska State league.

Magnate Milt, according to Sir Walter, admits that he gossiped with the Nebraska leaguers somewhat during the recent national convention of the minors at Louisville, but mature reflection has convinced him that the baseball bugs of the Mile High metropolis might take offense if he, Milt, were to link them up with a loop of the lowest classification in organized ball.

Milt should know his own town, but I'm warbling he'd be surprised at the quality of the diamond game generally on display in the Nebraska State. Frank Haley, prexy of St. Joseph's Western league champions of the past two years, is my authority for that suggestion.

Frank, I happen to know, has been through the mill. He brought his champs to Lincoln last summer for an exhibition game and what the Links did to Frank's Saints was a profound shock to their boss, the score being 9 to 1. As a matter of fact, the Western league boys brought their horseshoes with them and thereby escaped a shutout.

SOMETHING else of Denver origin, to-wit: A letter from Clarence Eklund, a wrestling gent who shoots the works whenever he steps out there on a padded mat. But Clarence's scribble tells the story:

"Dear Friend Cy: Now don't topple over, for it's only me. I had quite a visit recently with John Pesek, whom I met in Wichita. I hadn't seen John since 1929 and he seemed little changed. He certainly knows how to handle himself in a ring. I asked John about you and he said you were looking younger than you did 10 years ago (Editor's note: Did I fool John with my new toupee?), which was pleasing news.

"I am match-making in Denver now for the Olympic club and have expectations that I shall put it over. I haven't exactly quit wrestling on my own account, but it isn't often I can get matches with fellows of my class.

"Is Adam Krieger still wrestling? And how is Ed Wood? I heard from Jack Taylor last summer. He is located about 150 miles north of Edmonton, Alta. If, by chance, I go east this winter, I'll surely hunt you up and we can jabber a bit over the old days when rasslin in Lincoln was the real thing. Meantime, take care of yourself and remember me to all my old Lincoln friends. Yours truly,

"CLARENCE EKLUND."

LINCOLN CAGERS FACE TOUGH FOE

Ballermen Battle With Creighton Prep On Irving Court.

Lincoln high school's made over basket five will be tested under the fire of heavy competition on the Irving floor Friday night when the Creighton Prep quint invades to open the Ballermen's season. The tipoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Coach Baller will be sending into action a team of fast men, though untried in stiff competition, who depend on speed to get a break down the floor under way before the enemy defense can be set. Workouts this week have shown the Red and Black tossers improved their performance under the basket, a department that showed a lack of polish last week in the annual A-B game.

Tech Presents Brilliant Vets.

Facing the locals will be three men of the brilliant Prep five that defeated Lincoln high's state championship team of last year. These men—Zeisel, forward, Roh, center, and Robino, guard—are big, fast, clever performers, and they constitute the nucleus around which another dashing Prep club has been organized.

Rohrig and Benson probably will get the starting forward berths for Lincoln, with Bob Ramey at center. Benson has developed into a flashy floor man and heavy scorer, while Rohrig is a strong defensive man and a steady feeder. Ramey excls under the hop, where he bags one-handed shots with regularity.

Supporting this trio from the rear court will be Howard Dean and Jack Fate. Fate is a forward converted into a guard this season to provide speed and scoring punch for the defense department. Glen Trosper will divide time with one of these men.

At least one entire team of replacements will be on hand for duty. Scott is the outstanding forward or center reserve outside of Mason, who will be the first to enter the front line. Kinnamon is another reserve center and Binger and Helzer are substitute guards. Walter Black will referee.

Jackson High At Havelock.

Jackson high school's basketeers will attempt to settle a year-old grudge against Havelock high's cagers Friday night when the two teams open their seasons on Havelock maples, with the opening tip-off set for 8 o'clock. A preliminary game, involving the reserves from both schools, will get under way at 6:45.

Jackson's team, wheeling merrily toward a share of the Greater Lincoln league title last spring, was rudely jolted when Havelock bumped the Crimson in the final game of the season, causing Jackson to lose the league crown to College View.

Havelock's team is favored, due to the presence of more experienced men in the ranks, but the injury jinx has two of the better Engineer cagers on the bench, while Jackson can shoot with full strength.

Tourney Produces State Mat Champs

Lincoln and Omaha grapplers captured seven of the eight titles in the state amateur wrestling tournament at Lincoln Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, George Hubers of Crete winning the 165-pound class crown. Lincoln champions are George Nordstrom, 118; Don Shirley, 155; Norris Eaton, 175, and Art Coleman, heavyweight. Omaha class winners were Bill Carnes, 126; Ed Moravec, 135, and Paul Gerjevic, 145.

Gerjevic furnished the evening's fireworks when he polished off Charles Land of Lincoln in 35 seconds of the preliminary bout and went on to floor Clay Carskadon of Gothenburg in 3:45 in the final bout. Shirley felled Rubino in 4:59 and Hubers flopped Long in 1:53 in other final bouts ending with a fall. Results:

Reserves One Point Ahead Teachers Hi

A fighting team of Lincoln high Reserves, recruited from sophomore ranks, pulled a one-point victory out of the fire of the season's Greater Lincoln League opener Thursday afternoon at the state university coliseum as Teachers' high was turned back, 16 to 15.

Roth, center, starred for the losers, while Miller, Kersey and Labovitz stood out in the victorious lineup. Hammond, guard, played the best game for the starting Reserve quint.

JAPANESE URGED TO TOUR AMERICA

Oriental Ball Players Invited by C. Mack Come to U. S.

YOKAHAMA, Dec. 21—(INS)—The possibility of a Japanese baseball invasion of the Pacific coast, followed by a trans-Pacific barnstorming jaunt by a team of Coast league players, was suggested today by Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Mack is on his way home on the Empress of Canada, after leading an all-star team on what may be the last big-league oriental tour.

Lefty O'Doul, Mack announced, is stopping over in Tokio to arrange for a Japanese nine to go to America in the spring.

The Japanese won't be playing any major league teams here or in America for the next three years, said Mack, for, good as they are, they can't compete with American players, of whom they stand in frightened awe.

Japs Play Class AA Ball.

He advised them to develop their ability, man-power and confidence by competing against the Pacific coasters. The Japanese, said Mack, play class AA ball.

Commenting on the movement in the American and National leagues to prevent future trips abroad, because of the danger from playing on poor fields and the possibility of going stale by too much winter playing, Mack said:

"The fields over here are perfect. The players wouldn't tire if they didn't play too many games, and didn't make unnecessary trips to the provinces."

CHURCH LEAGUE.

Trinity's 28-9 victory over A. Z. A. in class A of the Church league featured Thursday evening play at Jackson high, while First Christian bumped Tabernacle Christian, 28-15, and Eagle beat First Lutheran by forfeit. Trinity won a class B game from Grace M. E., 16-13.

Saturday games in class C will start at 12:15, with six arrangements booked for settlement. The defending champion First M. E. team opens the slate against Plymouth Tifereth Israel plays Calvary Evangelical Free Methodist meets Trinity, Grace M. E. tackles Union, St. Paul exchanges compliments with Second Presbyterian and Warren plays Havelock M. E.

CITY LEAGUE.

Burt Null's long field goal with less than a minute to play, gave the Minks A. C. a narrow 13-12 victory over the Tigers in the feature game of the City league program at Everett junior high Thursday evening. West Lincoln walloped St. Marys, 20-10, and the Ramblers took another close one from Bethany, 19-15. The Unl Place Wildcats received credit for a forfeit victory over the Wheeling Aces when the latter team failed to appear on time.

HUSKERS BOW TO IOWA HAWKEYES

Nebraska Present With Improved Team, But Loses Opener.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

"A vastly improved basketball team," was the verdict of University of Nebraska fans Friday as they weighed the performance of Coach W. H. Browne's Cornhusker hoopsters in their Thursday night opener of the 1934-'35 home schedule. The Huskers dropped a 31-24 decision to the power University of Iowa quintet, but the Scarlet went down with colors flying, scoring six points in the last two minutes to force the game into an extra period.

The next assignment for the Cornhusker hoopsters is the Saturday game with the University of North Dakota five at the coliseum. The Nodaks, defending champions in the North Central conference, arrived in Lincoln Friday afternoon with a perfect string of victories and a record sheet which shows 60 points scored in a majority of contests.

Rosenthal Iowa's Ace.

Sid Rosenthal, plucky little reserve forward, was the hero in the Iowa victory, achieved in the presence of more than 3,000 fans. Rosenthal was the spark which touched off the powder in a belated spurt that shot the Hawkeyes ahead, 14-9, at the intermission. His floor play factored materially in the second period stand of the Hawks and his basket in the extra session put the game on ice.

Along with Rosenthal, the early game basketwork of Barko and floor play of Blackmer featured for the Hawkeyes. Barko, listed before the contest as on the sick list, looked "the picture of health" as he played the entire game.

For the Cornhuskers, the floor work of Bud Parsons and the basket-tossing of Henry Whitaker and Lester McDonald stood out. Parsons was the spark that kept the Scarlet in the running.

Huskers Out In Front.

Hale's free throw and a Sorensen basket at close range gave the Huskers a 3-0 lead in the first minutes. It was nearly three minutes more before Barko finally broke the ice for Iowa with a beautiful shot from the foul circle which spun off his hand and found the ring.

Nebraska led at 5-2 and 9-5 and it was not until the last two minutes of the first half that Blackmer's follow-in of Rosenthal's effort from the sidelines gave the Hawkeyes the lead for the first time. An archer from the sidelines and another under-basket flip by Rosenthal brought two more Iowa baskets and the Hawks were in front, 14-9, at the half.

Iowa went six minutes on the second half before scoring. Nebraska meantime had knotted the count at 14-14 when Whitaker dribbled through the Hawkeye defense for a setup, McDonald got set and boosted one through from near the sideline and Parsons converted Blackmer's foul.

Too Much Rosenthal.

Again it was Rosenthal that shoved the Iowans ahead, this time with a charity toss. Grim added another free throw and then Barko and Blackmer connected from the court, the Hawkeyes were leading, 20-16. With two minutes remaining, the Iowans were ahead, 24-18, and apparently had the game in the bag.

Parsons' long basket was the signal for a Husker rally and with the crowd of more than 3,000 in a frenzy, Howard Baker, sophomore reserve forward, slipped one in an overhead shot.

With less than 30 seconds to play, Sorensen got the tip from Blackmer, the Iowa center. Parsons took the ball up court and finally passed to Les McDonald, who was loose. The former Grand Island prepster took aim and arched the ball through the hoop to knot the score at 24-24. Blackmer's heave from center of the court bounced off the ring just as the gun was fired.

The extra session was all Iowa, with Blackmer caging the first basket and Rosenthal following with another field goal a few seconds later. A basket by Guard Bobby and gift toss by Grim sewed up the victory. Score:

JABBERING JIMMY STAYS AT GARDEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(INS)—Colonel John Hammond, chairman of the Madison Square Garden board, denied today that he had offered Ray Cass, matchmaker of the Boston Garden, the same post at the New York Garden, replacing James J. Johnston. Furthermore, he declared that under no circumstances would Cass get the job.

"Cass came here yesterday and asked for the job, but we never offered it to him," said Hammond. "I told him he hadn't made a good enough showing in Boston to warrant consideration, anyway."

Last season each club in the Middle Atlantic league was permitted to carry nine experienced players. This probably will be cut to six for 1935.

The New York Yankees lost considerable money operating the Wheeling club in the Middle Atlantic league last season and likely will switch it to another city.

Hurray and Hurrah; "Old Siwash" Wins

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 21—(INS) — Completely ignored during the last three lean football seasons, the Knox college victory bell rang last night for the first time this season.

It heralded the glad tidings that the basketball team of Old Siwash had won its first game of the year. Eureka college was the opponent and Knox won, 32 to 30, in an overtime period.

TINY'S GRIDMEN RESUME DRILLS

Thornhill Squad Intact For Bowl Game Except For Two Players.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 21—(INS)—The entire Stanford varsity, with the exception of two players, turned out for practice today as Coach "Tiny" Thornhill tightened up for the Rose Bowl game with Alabama New Year's day.

Bobby Grayson, smashing fullback, was in top form as the Cardinals ran through signal drill yesterday, showing no sign of favoring his bruised ribs, from which the tape was just removed.

"Bones" Hamilton, right halfback, was to show up for practice today, having completed his final examinations.

Thornhill planned to start heavy scrimmage tomorrow, with blocking, tackling and passing practice scheduled for today.

Tidemen Entrain Today.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Dec. 21—(AP)—A train conductor today became quarterback for Alabama's Crimson Tide as the squad "fell in" for the long trek to the Pacific coast and the New Year's day Rose Bowl game.

A light signal drill this morning, and then Coach Frank Thomas, his assistants and the 35 members of the team start for Pasadena, where they are due Christmas eve.

In the meantime, the Tide will work out at San Antonio and will exercise at Tucson, Arizona.

Coach Thomas, dissatisfied with an offensive scrimmage against the freshmen yesterday, sent in the second team to face the regulars in a game which ended 6-6.

Owls Away to Southland.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21 — (INS)—Three teams of Temple university's football squad today were bound for the southland and the Sugar Bowl clash at New Orleans on New Year's day.

The Owls' itinerary in the south calls for them to go first to Baton Rouge, La., where they will stay a week at Louisiana State university for practice drills. They are due in New Orleans Dec. 29. Thirty-three men are making the trip.

NODAKS SMOTHER OMAHA U. CAGERS

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 21—The high scoring University of North Dakota five departed for Lincoln today, following a 41-27 victory over the University of Omaha last night. The North Central conference champions will meet the Cornhuskers at the state university coliseum Saturday night.

Emmet Birk and Bob Finnegan, elongated forwards, set the pace for the winners with 11 and 14 points respectively. The Dakotans led, 25-18, at the half. Score:

Cruickshank Jingles Bahamas First Prize

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 21—(AP)—Little Bobby Cruickshank counted consistency the rarest of golfing virtues today as he pocketed first prize money in the $5,000 British Colonial open tournament. He won with a 72-hole score of 267.

Seven other players could point to at least one round a stroke or more lower than the best Cruickshank could exhibit. Nevertheless, the Richmond, Va., professional put together four cards that did not vary more than two strokes and made them return $500.

Not until the last green did Chuickshank shake off the bid of young Tony Butler or Harlingen, Texas, who started the last nine holes five up on the eventual winner, only to "blow" his chances.

Butler, finished a stroke behind Cruickshank, and Leo Mallory of Noroton, Conn., another youngster, shot a 169 for third place. Butler won $350; Mallory, $250.

BOWLING

BOOSTER LEAGUE.

Rolling 2,935, Clark's took top honors in the Booster league at the Lincoln Parlors Thursday evening and notched the high single game with 1,028. Individually, Kelly's 677 was the best of an exceptionally good lot of performances and Pegler's 258 was the top one-game performance. Sinclair-O'Shea-Rogers Roberts Clark's and Harry's Lunch each won the odd game from Davidson & Hansen Hellmann's Fleishart, Bobs and Lincoln Sports while City Club spanked Mahon's three straight games.

College Head Makes Frank Confession of Hiring Football Men

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21—The great football teams produced at Washington & Jefferson college a few years ago were subsidized at the rate of $40,000 or more a year, Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, college president, has disclosed in a copyrighted story in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Admits Facts; Cites Figures.

Frankly admitting that W. & J. subsidized its players, Dr. Hutchinson said "it is impossible with a team drawn from a student body of 450 to play great universities unless that team is built up by extensive subsidization of athletes."

Determined to take commercialism out of college football, the president has succeeded in eliminating all "big teams" except Pittsburgh, from the college's 1935 gridiron schedule.

Citing figures to show that it cost more than $800 to keep a football man in school, Dr. Hutchinson said W. & J. maintained 47 students on football scholarships when he became president of the institution in 1931. Since, that number has been reduced to 14.

Free Board and Everything.

During the days when the "Presidents" met the best there was in football, Dr. Hutchison said, the college gave its players free board and room, tuition and books.

On the basis of education costs, each man was worth $800 a year, he said. There were usually 50 of the school's 500 students on the squad and that made the total $40,000.

Wash-Jeff reached its heights in 1921, when it played California to a scoreless tie in the Rose Bowl. For more than a decade after it was rated with the best, however.

Two years ago, when the youthful Dr. Hutchison took charge, the athletic board accepted his recommendation to cease subsidization of players.

Husker Splashers Close to Records

University of Nebraska varsity and frosh swimmers showed plenty of class Thursday afternoon in a dual meet at the coliseum. The varsity won a 35-30 decision and the performances shaved close to the Big Six records.

Coach Jack Minor's varsity was paced by Harry Kuklin and Glyndon Lynde. Kuklin won the back stroke and diving, while Lynde equalled the Big Six mark of 24 8-10 seconds for the 50-yard free style and was close to the 100-yard record.

Jack Barry, Omaha frosh, won the 220-yard free style and Charles Mann, another Omaha swimmer, copped the breast stroke. Summary:

WAVERLY BOWLS OVER CATHEDRAL

WAVERLY, Neb., Dec. 21—A fast-breaking Waverly cage five, led by Stradley, center, rolled to an easy 38 to 15 victory over Cathedral of Lincoln here Thursday night. The visitors never threatened. Unable to solve the offensive employed by the locals, Cathedral resorted to an unorganized defensive game with some success, but seldom was able to secure possession of the ball long enough to score. The locals presented an effective defense throughout the game. The score:

MORMONS POUR IT OVER CREIGHTON U.

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Overcoming a 15-point lead piled up by Creighton in the first 10 minutes of play, Brigham Young university basketball team made a spectacular rally to win, 48 to 38, here last night.

Ralph Crowton, sensational forward for the Cougars, scored 11 field goals and provided the inspiration for his team's spurt in the second half to break a 32 to 32 tie.

BRITISH OWNER FIRST OFFENDER

Sopwith Fouled Rainbow In Opening Race of Cup Series.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(INS)—A three months' silence had been broken today by the New York Yacht club concerning the now famous protest of T. O. M. Sopwith, skipper of the yacht Endeavour in the America's Cup races at Newport last September.

In the yacht club's annual report, the race committee, comprising Edmund Lang, chairman; E. Vail Stebbins, secretary, and Clinton MacKenzie, went into lengthy detail as to why they refused to hear Sopwith's protest against Rainbow during the fourth race of the cup series, an action which has been bitterly criticised on both sides of the Atlantic.

The committee's decision hinges completely on an understanding between Harold S. Vanderbilt, skipper of the Rainbow, and the America's Cup committee, prior to the race, in which they agreed that, due to the international character of the race, they would avoid protests as much as possible.

Britisher First Offender.

As has often been intimated, but not officially reported hitherto, their verdict was based on the fact that the committee witnessed a foul by Endeavour just before the start of the race. Therefore, had Sopwith raised his protest flag immediately after the incident on which he later protested, Vanderbilt probably would have done likewise and entered a counter protest. Vanderbilt passed up this opportunity in accordance with his agreement with the committee, it was said.

The club, incidentally, announced the re-election of Junius S. Morgan, son of J. P. Morgan, as its commodore.

Leo Kucinski Of Sioux City To Be Symphony Guest Director Here

Leo Kucineki, director of the Sioux City Symphony orchestra, will be guest conductor of the Lincoln symphony at concerts February 25, the symphony board of directors announced Thursday afternoon. Under an exchange arrangement, Rudolph Seidl, Lincoln's conductor, will direct the Sioux City orchestra at a concert there the same day.

Mr. Kucinski will direct the musicians at both the matinee performance for school children, and at the regular evening concert, according to Prof. Howard Kirkpatrick, chairman of the symphony board.

NEW BURR SCHOOL ALMOST COMPLETE.

BURR, Neb., Dec. 21—(AP)—The new Burr school house is expected to be ready for occupancy in time for second semester classes. The steam heating plant has been installed and the rooms are being plastered this week. The contractors have assured members of the community club that the gymnasium will be ready for use by January 5.

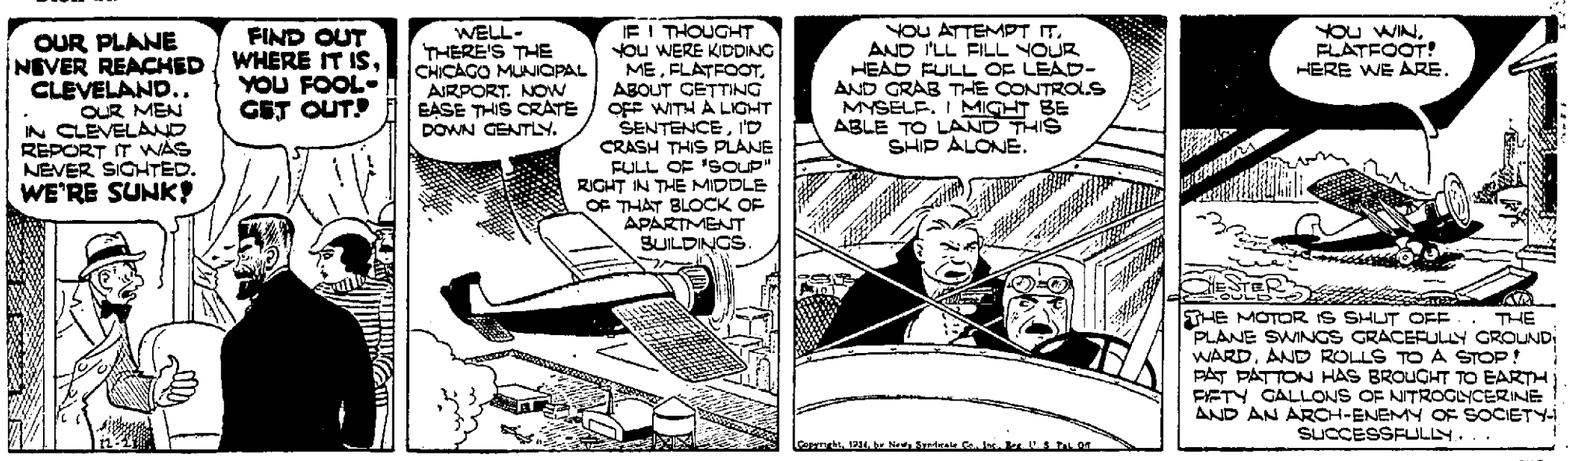

Early Start.

OMAHA, Dec. 21—(AP)—Ever since his birth two weeks ago, Robert Connelly, jr., has been a model young man. He never scolded his mother, talked back to his daddy, or objected to his baths. He did protests vehemently, though, when his mother corrected him for sucking his fists. Today Robert, jr., showed them why. He had cut two lower teeth. And if Mama hadn't been so inquisitive, he wouldn't have showed them to her until Christmas.

Much Better Tone In Stock Market As Friday Selling In Utilities Dries Up Appreciably

Equities Follow A Narrow Range

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—

Trading in today's stock market continued comparatively dull, but there was a much better tone in evidence and selling in the utilities dried up appreciable. While there were a few outstanding gainers, the list as a whole, followed a narrow range. The close was steady Transfers approximated 890,000 shares.

The stock market showed some signs of improvement today, although moderate irregularity persisted in scattered share groups that have recently been under pressure.

Selling in a few of the utilities appeared to have dried up with indications that these depressed issues had discounted much of the adverse news pertaining to them. Several industrials and specialties moved up. Trading enthusiasm was notably lacking, however, and the volume of transactions was considerably under that of yesterday.

Most of the grains were inclined to ease and cotton was virtually at a standstill. Bonds were slightly mixed in quiet dealings Foreign exchange rates registered only minor variations.

Shares of Consolidated Gas and North American managed to recover small fractions, but Public Service of New Jersey dipped a point or so before meeting support and American Telephone lost as much. Standard Oil of New Jersey came to life with an advance of a point and as firm tone was displayed by Eastman Kodak, Standard Oil of California, American Can, National Distillers and a number of others.

Among stocks off a point or more were Interboro Rapid Transit, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Monsanto Chemical and Sears Roebuck Issues about unchanged to a trifle lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward and Schenley.

The rails were listless despite an unusually good freight car loadings report for the week ended December 15. The total of 579,935 cars was a more than seasonal increase of 28,924 over the previous week It was 20,516 above the like 1933 week and 64,166 ahead of the corresponding week of 1932.

The gain was about in line with expectations in view of the brisk business which apparently is being enjoyed by most parts of the country.

The tendency of various stocks to draw away from the adverse influence of the utilities was encouraging to those technicians who still believe that the course of prices especially in the industrial groups, is upward.

Administrative opposition to the proposal of business and industrial leaders that the government swing away from work relief to direct aid to the needy was generally viewed in Wall street as "unfortunate" in that the co-operative move between finance and Washington might be retarded. Hopes were expressed, however, that the controversy would not reach the stage where it would seriously interfere with the progress of recovery

Although sentiment toward equities appeared to be fairly bullish, most observers saw little likelihood of any aggressive buying between now and the Christmas ony holiday. Commission houses reported many bids under the market, although the short account was said to be relatively small.

Omaha Produce.

Weekly Trade Review.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—With holiday buying exceeding all previous expectations retail trade rose to new peaks during the past week, said the weekly Dun & Bradstreet review today.

"In some of the large centers" asserted the summary, "where early estimates had been tinged with no small degree of doubtfulness as to the extent of the demand, the preliminary estimates of sales for the entire Christmas season were more than surpassed before the final week had been reached.

"With the surge of last minute buying yet to be recorded, retail sales for December are placed conservatively at 20 to 30 per cent in excess of those a year ago

"To most retailers the Christmas season has brought the largest sales since 1930, with many reporting the 1929 figures exceeded.

"Comforted by the assurance that 1934 will close with trade positions from both the income and profit standpoint the strongest achieved in five years plans for a broader expansion in 1935 are now being formulated

"Industrial operations remain somewhat irregular, with gains for the week particularly emphatic in those divisions identified with the production of steel built materials, plumbing supplies, automobiles, farm equipment, textiles and shoes.

Corn Helped by Late Advances

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 21—(AP)—

Larger buying in the corn futures market than has recently been witnessed led to late advances of corn prices today, and helped to rally wheat.

Demand for corn futures was due more or less to the fact that prices had broken about 8 cents a bushel from the recent high point. There was some talk that in view of lack of subsoil moisture in the spring wheat area, the aggregate crop of all wheat for 1935 might turn out below normal domestic requirements.

Corn closed unsettled, ⅞ cent off to ⅝ cents up compared with yesterday's finish, May 86⅛@⅜c, wheat ¼ to ½ cent advanced, May 98⅛@98c, oats ⅛ to ½ cent down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Material setbacks of grain values took place early today, responsive to the bearish character of the United States government's latest crop report. Notable weakness of wheat quotations at Liverpool were an additional bearish factor. Opening ⅜ to 1¼ cents lower, May 97⅛@97¼c, Chicago wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started at ¼ to ⅝ cent off, May 85⅞@86c, and subsequently declined further.

Wheat and corn both fell to fresh bottom prices unmatched since November 23 Selling, however, was not aggressive, and a steadying influence came from the fact that a comparatively low yield per acre for domestic new winter wheat sowings was officially indicated. The 1935 production of winter wheat was tentatively put by the department of agriculture at 475,000 000 bushels, an amount somewhat below trade estimates.

Leading trade authorities here contended that a December government report as to wheat crop possibilities for 1935 was of small value. It was also pointed out that instead of a usual allowance of 11 to 12 per cent abandonment of acreage, the department of agriculture this year suggests likelihood of around 18 per cent abandonment. Helping to check price declines was attention given to meagerness of wheat receipts at domestic primary centers, only 175,000 bushels today against 310,000 a week ago and 504,000 at this time last year Oats went lower with wheat and corn, and as a result of indifference of buyers.

About mid-session, wheat was ½ to ¾ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, and corn was varying from ¼ cent off to ⅛ cent up.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 34 cars, a week ago 72, and a year ago 31.

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21—(AP)—Traders today awaited the reaction on the price trend of the government's report on the winter wheat acreage The report, issued after the close of the market yesterday, predicted the largest acreage since 1930 and estimates placed the acreage this year at 44 306 000 compared with 41,283 000 acres last year. Part of the increase was traced by the statisticians to the need of more pasture and forage as a result of the drouth.

Prices in the next few months, however, are expected by the trade to receive most of their influence from the adjustment necessary to create a balance between the available supply of grains especially feed grains, and the demand for them.

Unsettled conditions in the trading of wheat in the markets of the world were blamed for the recent slumps in the price of that grain. A loss of about 2½ cents a bushel was recorded during the last week in wheat, and corn was off about 2 cents in the same period of time. The demand for corn fell off in both the country and at terminal points. This was the main reason for the price recession

BOAT BEACHED AS FIRE RAGES

Freighter Ontario Hauled From Boston Dock to Nearby Island.

BOSTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The 30-year-old freighter Ontario, listing astern from a stubborn aft-hold fire which sent her scurrying to port last night, was hauled from her dock this forenoon by a battery of tugs and fireboats and beached on Governor's island, a half-mile down Boston harbor.

Her crew of 40, led by Capt. John Kauserud, remained with the stricken vessel, although weary and near exhaustion after an all-night battle against acrid fumes and choking smoke. They were expected to leave the ship while firemen continued to battle the smouldering mass in the third hold. It carried a cargo of wool tops.

C. G. Sheely, Former Contractor Here, Dead

Charles G. Sheely, former Lincoln bridge contractor, died last week at San Antonio, Tex., Sheely was prominent in contracting circles here many years until he removed to Denver a number of years ago, later going to San Antonio, where he operated his own contracting concern. Funeral services and interment were at Ft. Collins, Colo.

Nebraska's Christmas Tree Is Up at Capitol

A large evergreen tree was delivered at the capitol Friday morning to be set up on the middle landing at the north entrance, where it will be decorated and covered with colored lights for display at night. A Christmas eve program will be held at the tree, as the state government's observance of the holiday.

84 Members Reported in Chamber Campaign

Nine Regular and One Life Pledge Announced at Friday Meeting.

Nine regular memberships reported Friday noon brought the chamber of commerce campaign total to 83 to date. The life membership of Dr. C. H. Arnold was also registered, bringing the total of all memberships to 84.

Max Meyer's division was high for the day with a report of four, and the life membership. Ralph Theisen's team had three new members, and Leo Soukup, two. The drive will be discontinued over the holidays, to resume the first week in January.

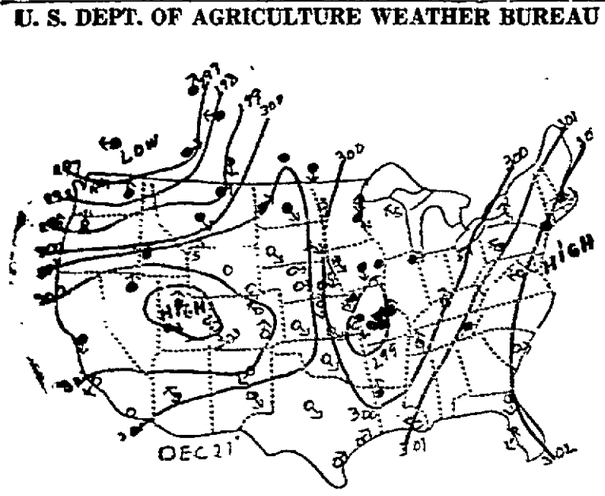

"At no time in the history of Lincoln have we needed the chamber of commerce as badly as we do today," H. F. McCulla, former local and national junior chamber president, declared in a speech to campaign workers. The record of the Lincoln chamber, he said, is a "guarantee of its future value to the community."

"No community of consequence has attained that place without the constructive effort and sustained support of a chamber of commerce or commercial club."

MOVE TO OUST FLETCHER FAILS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—A movement to force Henry P. Fletcher out of the chairmanship of the republican national committee ran into a stone wall today when it became known that a poll of the committee showed 43 of the 48 states' representatives against the reorganization move.

A concession of defeat in this movement for what Senator Borah and others call "liberalization" of the party's high command came from a leader in the attempt, Senator Nye of North Dakota.

To force a meeting of the national committee for the purpose, 16 states must be represented on a petition. In view of the poll's results, observers saw little chance that Fletcher's critics could force him out before 1936.

The canvass was conducted by some of the committee members and all but five states—Minnesota, Montana, Idaho and the two Dakotas—had been heard from last night.

"Senator Borah offered no substitute for what he was seeking to replace," said Senator Couzens of Michigan.

"Measures come before men, not men before measures. In my opinion the next session of congress will provide us with all the issues we need in our next platform."

The equality that matters is being equal to the occasion.

Dismissal of Douglas Damage Suit Is Upheld

Supreme Court Holds Lenz Could Have Heard Train Which Struck Him.

The Supreme court Friday affirmed the Douglas county District court's action in dismissing the suit of Adolph Lenz against the Union Pacific railroad for injuries suffered when he stepped from a commissary car and was hit by a passing train. Lenz could have seen and heard the approaching train had he exercised due caution, the court found, holding the railroad was not negligent.

Judgment obtained by the Cozad State bank against William McLaughlin on a $4,000 note was affirmed. Nellie P. Clarke lost her fight against the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., asking cancellation of a deed in exchange for cancellation of a note secured by a mortgage on the real estate involved. The Supreme court affirmed a Dawson county District court order confirming sale of land in a foreclosure action brought by Alice Lewis against John W. Neslund.

Conviction and a one year prison sentence of Herbert Ruhl in Thayer county for failure to pay alimony were upheld. He was divorced in 1932 from Blanche M. Ruhl.

PRESENTED WITH VASE.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 21—At a meeting of the First Christian church Sunday school Wednesday evening, W. H. Davis, who has served as superintendent for 25 years, was presented with a beautiful silver vase, appropriately engraved. The presentation was made by H. E. Sackett on behalf of the Sunday school.
